MOB THREATENS TO LYNCH FARMER AT DEFIANCE

Is Accused of Beating 3-Year Old Boy to Death.

CITY AND COUNTY ROUSED

Additional Guards Placed on Duty at Jail.

DEFIANCE, O. — Additional guards were keeping vigil on the jail at Defiance Saturday night for fear that an effort may be made to lynch Joshua Botkins, 50, a farmer, who is charged with the murder of Arthur, three-year-old son of Mrs. Ida May Bullock, Botkins' housekeeper. Saturday afternoon he pleaded not guilty to a formal charge of murder.

Police charge that Botkins beat the child with a harness tug and injured the boy so severely that death resulted.

According to information obtained by the police, Botkins held the child up by the ankle and administered the beating.

Botkins told officers he was only chastising the child and did not intend to give him so severe a beating.

In the meantime, the indignation of the residents of the town and surrounding country found expression in threats of lynching, according to police, and extra precautions were taken to prevent a possible attack on the jail.

TOWNS CORDONED AGAINST RIOT

Serious Clashes Expected Monday When Orangemen Parade.

LONDON — Seven additional battalions of British troops have been ordered to Dublin and Belfast as a precaution against trouble when 20,000 Orangemen march in the parades at those cities on Monday, the anniversary of the Battle of Boyne, it was learned on good authority Saturday night.

Five other battalions have been stationed in barracks at cities in Ulster, to be ready to move on short notice.

Military measures instituted both at Dublin and Belfast were supplemented by machine guns and howitzers. Both cities were enclosed in a cordon of British soldiers. Trenches were dug at short intervals on the outskirts of the towns. Troops patrolled all the main streets and barbed wire entanglements were erected on all roads leading to and from the two places.

MUTINY REPORTED

Sir Edward Carson, Unionist leader, will address a large audience of Orangemen in a big open field outside Belfast on Monday.

Sinn Fein at Dublin published a circumstantial report of a mutiny which was said to have occurred in a southern constabulary barracks last month, when a divisional commander delivered a speech urging the constabulary to pursue a ruthless policy, shooting on the slightest provocation. The story quotes the entire speech verbatim. In conclusion, the commissioner was alleged to have asked whether the men were ready to keep in such a policy. The men refused, and one of them cried: "You're a murderer." The commissioner ordered the speaker's arrest. The man declared if he was arrested the room would run with blood.

STORY SWORN TO

The barracks have been in a state of passive mutiny ever since this occurrence, the report said. The story was sworn to by four of the constables involved. Sinn Fein also charge there have been similar happenings at other barracks near Dublin.

Reports have reached London recently of two occurrences such as described in the Sinn Fein report.

Celebrates Sudden Wealth, Haled to Court, Freed

YOUNGSTOWN. — Notified that he had been left a fortune of a half million dollars by a half brother of whose existence he had never known, Dominick Testa, proprietor of a little Italian restaurant here started out to celebrate, which is the reason he appeared in police court Saturday on a charge of intoxication, he told the judge. Investigation established the validity of his story and he was freed.

The notification of the bequest was received by an Italian banking company here from a firm of lawyers in Rome. After Testa had left Italy at the age of 13, his father died and his mother remarried. A half brother born to the second marriage, Rossmann Fusco, rose to be a generalissimo in the Italian army. He died on February 15, leaving a fortune of a million and a half of which Testa's share is a half million.

Testa is still celebrating.

HAYS WILL VISIT HARDING TODAY

Expected to Accompany Nominee to Church This Morning

MARION, Ohio. — General Leonard Wood is due here from Chicago Saturday night for a conference with Warren G. Harding. This will be the first meeting since the Chicago convention between General Wood, who was a candidate for the nomination, and the Republican presidential nominee.

General Wood has already privately assured Harding of his full moral support, although he will be prevented by his position as an army officer, from participating actively in the campaign. General Wood will dine with the Hardings and leave for Chicago on a midnight train.

Senator Harding will attend church Sunday morning, worshipping at the Baptist church, where he has attended many years. Will H. Hays, national chairman, is expected in the morning and probably will accompany Harding. Hays teaches a Sunday school class. Senator Harding disclosed Saturday that he once preached a sermon in a local church and has also taught the Bible class in a Sunday school, though not regularly. He has always been a regular church attendant, he said, and deeply enjoys a good sermon.

Senator Albert B. Cummins, Iowa, a close personal friend of Senator Harding, will arrive Sunday. Congressman Nicholas Longworth and his wife Alice Roosevelt Longworth, are expected to make a personal visit to Marion soon.

Two thousand Cleveland Republicans will come to Marion in a special train to attend the notification ceremonies July 22.

The National Italian-American Republican League, including over 500,000 voters, will support Harding this year, according to a message received from its president.

ARCHBISHOP'S BATTLE ON DIVORCE IS LOST

LONDON. — An attempt by the head of the Church of England, the Archbishop of Canterbury, to prevent any divorced person whose wife or husband may be living from being remarried in any State church or chapel has been defeated.

The Archbishop offered an amendment to the Buckmaster divorce bill pending in the House of Lords to give effect to such a church debarment.

But he was defeated by one vote, the opinion being that such a provision would be the first act in a contest between the Church and the State, which is not desired. In addition, it was argued that it would be unjust to innocent persons who may become divorced.

CHICAGO. — Love of army life triumphed over love of family. Lieutenant Carl Wanderer told police here Saturday night.

He was locked in his cell, held to the grand jury on confession of wife murder. He also confessed to the shooting of an unknown man, his dupe in an intricately arranged plot to do away with the wife and prospective mother who barred his entry to the life he loved—a commissioned officer in the army.

Wanderer was held to the grand jury without bail. State and county authorities said he will be rushed thru a trial and—as the coroner's verdict portended with its "May God Have Mercy on Your Soul," to the gallows.

The former lieutenant didn't blink when ordered held for grand jury action. His face was calm, his eyes inscrutable as police surrounded him for the journey to a cell.

COX PLANS SOLID LEAGUE FRONT

Starts Movement to Win Support of All Factions

URGES TWO RESERVATIONS

Wilson Expected to Back His Covenant Views

DAYTON. — A speedy ratification of the Versailles treaty with two general reservations which he believes will be satisfactory to senatorial factions, will be urged by Democratic Nominee Cox, according to his closest advisers.

The personal view of the candidate is that, ratification should be accomplished without "sacrificing the vitals" of the league of nations covenant, it was stated Saturday by a near friend.

It was learned that Cox, anxious to avoid the detailed wrangles of the treaty debate and bitter personalities that arose, will submit to President Wilson for approval the following reservations, as a solution of the problems:

PROPOSED RESERVATIONS

1.—A definite agreement that regardless of what situation may arise the American congress shall have the exclusive power to say when the military and naval forces of the United States shall be employed, and that at all times this nation must act in strict harmony with its constitution.

2.—A clear statement that all members of the league agree to make the main and virtually sole work of the tribunal the prevention of war.

At Cox's offices here there is an air of confidence that there will be no clash in view on the league question between the candidate and the president. Reports from Washington that Cox's views on reservations were acceptable to the White House were pointed to as an indication of this. A public statement on the issue probably will be made by Cox after his conference with Wilson on which he hopes to hold before completing his speech on accepting the nomination.

STANDS BY PLATFORM

The United Press is able to give Governor Cox's own words on his reservations, as he wrote them recently for his closest advisers:

The text of the first follows: "It will of course be understood that in carrying out the purpose of the league the government of the United States must at all times act in strict harmony with the terms and intent of the United States constitution which cannot in any way be altered by the treaty-making power."

The second is: "In giving its assent to the treaty the senate has in mind the fact that the league of nations which it embodies, was devised for the sole purpose of maintaining peace and preventing a recurrence of such destructive conflict as that through which the world has just passed. The cooperation of the United States with the league and its continuance as a member thereof, will naturally depend upon the adherence of the league to that fundamental purpose."

Cox is certain that his league views are in harmony with the platform. Emphasizing that he intends to stand by the convention's declaration, Cox said:

"I regard the platform as a promissory note to the American people."

TOGETHER ON LEAGUE

Close advisers of Cox emphasize that the president and he always have been together on the general principle of establishing a league of nations and this is clearly indicated by a thorough study of the candidate's speeches and newspaper editorials.

It is evident that Cox's main purpose is to make his league campaign in such a manner as to insure the support of all factions of the party.

It is known that one of Cox's main appeals for ratification of the treaty with his general reservations, will be that it is the best insurance of a return to normal conditions. Shortly after the Republican platform was framed, his papers in a leading editorial said:

"The leadership in Chicago has placed the Republican party in the position of a party which has no alternative but to support the league of nations."

People here are watching Governor Cox, too. They have heard that he is lukewarm on the League of Nations, and they suspect that his friendship for the idea is purely for expediency. Having been nominated by Tammany and other Democratic organizations known to contain large proportions of Irish voters opposed to the league, there is at him, he decided it would be better to put her away than to see her suffer at his desertion.

He hunted up a "ragged man," bribed him to stage a fake holdup, he said, and in the meantime planned to shoot his wife. When the affair was staged in the entrance to their apartment, he said, he suddenly shot his accomplice in the back.

Therefore, the ragged man, a "poor bum," was sacrificed with his wife.

TRACED BY REVOLVER

Suspicion fell on Wanderer, when the ragged man's revolver was traced to the lieutenant's possession.

JOKER IN JOHNSON'S PLEDGE, REPORT

Harding Must Repudiate League to Hold California Senator, Claim—Cox May Swing Big Vote In the Golden State, Writer Says

(BY DAVID LAWRENCE)

LOS ANGELES, Cal. — History has an annoying way of repeating itself, especially in politics. And if Senator Harding isn't wary and Governor Cox alertly "scoops" his rival publisher on the situation in southern California, the eastern world may be tensely hanging over telegraph tickers again on election night and watching returns from Los Angeles-co to tell whether California has gone Republican or Democratic.

For while eastern Republicans may profess joy over Senator Johnson's declaration that he will support the Republican ticket, they do not know as yet what the joker is in that statement. The truth is Senator Johnson confidently expects Senator Harding to interpret the Republican platform a repudiation of the treaty of Versailles, which contains the covenant of the League of Nations, and if the Republican candidate agrees with Johnson or if the California senator acts as spokesman out here for Harding on the League of Nations issue, the Republican managers back east may just as well put California in the doubtful column.

It must not be forgotten that Los Angeles-co is ordinarily Republican, but that in the recent Hoover-Johnson primaries, the former food administrator carried the southern section of the state with a campaign in favor of the League of Nations. Mr. Hoover's recent announcement supporting the candidacy of Senator Harding with a statement interpreting the Republican platform as looking toward the ratification of the peace treaty and approval of the league with reservations helped to draw Republicans toward Harding, but they are wondering now whether the interpretation of Hoover or Johnson is a reflection of the views and intentions of the Republican candidate for the presidency.

They don't hesitate a moment here to vote the Democratic ticket if it appears that a progressive heads the ticket or if the moral side of a transcendent issue is with the Democrats. The women of California helped to turn the last election and they will figure largely in this contest, and such votes as they didn't turn were diverted by Hiram Johnson's known lack of interest in the success of the Republican presidential nominee.

Now Johnson has a big following, especially in northern California, and he has but to issue a statement, recording, as he did the other day, his support of the ticket and then if the candidate doesn't express similar views in speeches the people who follow Johnson know what to do when election day comes around. Yet if Senator Harding were to follow Johnson and come out against the League of Nations, which today embraces the principal nations with the exception of the United States, Turkey and Russia, he would alienate the people in southern California, who are strong for a league such as is already in existence, and who do not favor a new gathering at some distant date as some persons have interpreted the meaning of the Republican plank.

Unquestionably, in northern California, where the Irish voters in San Francisco and that vicinity have been persuaded to believe that the league somehow retards Irish freedom, Senator Harding's approval of the beliefs of Hiram Johnson would be welcomed with joy, but should Senator Harding cater to some currents of thought in northern California, which have been stirred up by Senator Johnson, he will run the risk of losing the state league vote in all parts of the state including the north.

People here are watching Governor Cox, too. They have heard that he is lukewarm on the League of Nations, and they suspect that his friendship for the idea is purely for expediency. Having been nominated by Tammany and other Democratic organizations known to contain large proportions of Irish voters opposed to the league, there is at him, he decided it would be better to put her away than to see her suffer at his desertion.

He hunted up a "ragged man," bribed him to stage a fake holdup, he said, and in the meantime planned to shoot his wife. When the affair was staged in the entrance to their apartment, he said, he suddenly shot his accomplice in the back.

Therefore, the ragged man, a "poor bum," was sacrificed with his wife.

TRACED BY REVOLVER

Suspicion fell on Wanderer, when the ragged man's revolver was traced to the lieutenant's possession.

Late Saturday Mrs. Katherine Vannos, having seen newspaper pictures of the "poor bum," identified him as an ex-Canadian soldier. She called him Albert Watson, reputed son of a wealthy turfman of New York. Police were inclined to accept her story and wired New York police for verification.

The establishing of the "poor bum" as a person of standing, might add another angle to the case. Many who observed Wanderer, studying his calm blue eyes and controlled features, were ready to believe that old motives may have figured in the double killing.

SOCIALISTS PLAN TO "STEAL" CONVENTION

CHICAGO. — The Socialists plan to "steal" the American Labor Party convention, it was said by one of the "conspirators" Saturday night.

While presidential nomination speeches are being made probably Monday or Tuesday, one of the delegates, among whom are many Socialists, will present the name of a "man who has always been a friend of labor, who is now in prison for his defense of labor—Eugenio V. Debs."

In an impassioned speech, the Socialist spokesman hopes to stampede the labor convention which opens Sunday, into endorsement of Debs, thus setting at naught the efforts of the 45 to draw the labor organization into the proposed "third party."

FORD MAY BUILD STORAGE HERE

Property Near D. T. & I Depot Now Under Option.

That the Ford Motor company may acquire property in Lima was learned Saturday following announcement of purchase of the D. T. and I. railway by Henry Ford and his son, Edsel B. Ford.

Mary Stelzenbach, real estate dealer, said she holds options on property in the vicinity of the D. T. and I. depot which the Ford company will probably use. She said however she was not prepared to make any definite statement in the matter as she knew nothing about the intentions of the company.

Current rumor Saturday was to the effect that large buildings for storage purposes are to be erected here.

W. C. Friday, Lima Ford agent, said that he has no knowledge of any real estate deal here. This is taken to mean that if such a transaction is in progress it is for some project of importance in connection with the Ford organization, rather than anything of local nature. The establishment of a subsidiary shipping point here, as in the case of the Buick company has been suggested as a possible object of purchase of property in the city.

Whether or not Ford will carry out any other improvements on the railroad other than those already under way could not be learned last night. Men connected with the company here said they had no advice concerning the probable future policy of the new owner.

Some time ago the D. T. & I. announced extensive improvements, which would put the lines in good condition. Twenty large locomotives were ordered along with 4,000 freight cars. In addition to this much of the track was relaid with heavy steel and the road bed improved. It is believed that Ford will carry out all the work started.

A statement from the automobile king as to his intentions is expected in Lima soon, it was said yesterday.

BRIDGE PLANS UP TO COUNCIL

North and Elm-st Projects to Come Up Monday Night.

Plans and specifications for the North and Elm-st bridges will be considered at a special meeting of council to be called Monday evening, President W. J. Dempster said Saturday.

Engineer C. E. Roberts was employed to draw the plans for these bridges. Service Director McClam said. He declared two sets of plans will be submitted, one for a patented construction and the other non-patented. The former will be the most likely to be adopted he said, as the city engineer has made a statement that the additional cost of material it is necessary to use in the non-patented construction will more than equal the cost of the patent.

Roberts is the same engineer, McClam said, who prepared plans for the Collet, Pierce, West and Main-st bridges.

City Auditor Rupert said the appropriation ordinance providing for funds for the city for the last half of the year 1920 will be presented to the council at the meeting Monday night.

Chairman Harry J. Brice of the safety committee said no recommendation would be made at this time as to disposition of the flag pole in the public square.

WEATHER:—Local thunder-showers Sunday; Monday fair, warmer. Maximum temperature yesterday, 85 at 2 p. m.; minimum, 60 at 4 a. m.

DICTATOR MAY BE NAMED SOON

Mine Operators Believe Washington Will Act.

COAL SITUATION SERIOUS

Public Utilities Now on "Thin Ice," Says Report.

PITTSBURG, Pa. — Belief that a federal fuel administrator would be appointed at an early date to exercise the same authority as that official had during war time, was expressed freely in operators' circles here Saturday night.

The report is said to have originated from the unusual activity of coal men hastening to Washington after many long distance telephone calls to the capital Saturday.

COAL SITUATION GRAVE

WASHINGTON. — A recommendation that the interstate commerce commission extend its order giving priority to open top cars at bituminous mines was made Saturday by Daniel Willard, head of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The order under present rulings would end late in July. Willard argued that it be extended thirty days to insure an adequate coal supply next winter.

While J. D. A. Morrow, vice-president of the National Coal Association and C. E. Cottrill, representing southern cotton and lumber interests, supported Willard at a hearing before the commission, sand and gravel operators registered vigorous opposition, declaring they would suffer heavy business losses.

Discussing the coal situation, Willard said:

"Public utilities are on thin ice and the New England situation is very grave, but I fully believe they will be taken care of. However, I have grave fears for the lake region. I believe the commission will have to intervene to relieve the situation there."

WOOLEY HEIRS TO CONTEST SUIT

Miss Michael's Claim to Estate Causes Legal Battle.

Heirs-at-law of the late Joseph Wooley, 819 W. Market-st., will contest, to a finish, suit of Miss Maude Michael, his former housekeeper, for possession of his estate, developments yesterday indicated.

In an answer filed in common pleas Saturday, to Miss Michael's suit, asking that all action be deferred until her rights in the matter be determined, Earl K. Robinson and Hazel Robinson, Newbold, nephew and niece, ask that Miss Michael's petition be dismissed by the court.

They aver they are the legal heirs-at-law and entitled to all the estate, after payment of debts and costs of administration of the estate are made. They ask that their title to the real estate be quieted as to the claims of Miss Michael and all other defendants.

Three separate suits for possession of the estate are now on the court records. Wooley, devised a large part of the property by his wife at her death a year and a half before he passed away, gave his entire estate to Miss Michael in an oral agreement for serving him as housekeeper, she alleges.

A will supposed to have covered the largest part of the estate, Miss Michael is contending for possession of the estate. She won the first step when the court gave her possession of the personal property which she is now holding while residing in Wooley's home, W. Market-st. She served more than 20 months as his housekeeper.

According to her attorney she will present evidence that Wooley told many people he had given her his entire estate, valued at $15,000. The case will be set for trial this fall.

WAS NEGLIGENT, CHARGE DENTIST TO PAY $9,000

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — A verdict for $9,000 was returned by the Jersey Circuit Court, against Dr. Frederick W. Ziebell, dentist, who was charged with responsibility for the death of a patient, Mrs. Cornelia Ollert.

It was claimed that Dr. Ziebell was using an electric drill on Mrs. Ollert, June 13, 1916, when a heavy thunder shower broke, and the drill, affected by the electrical disturbances, transmitted an augmented current of electricity that burned Mrs. Ollert's mouth and gave her a shock from which it was contended lockjaw developed. She died two days later. It was alleged that Dr. Ziebell failed to have the wire which transmitted the power to the drill properly insulated. The doctor denied this.

RAIL MEN WATCH WAGE BOARD

Award Not Expected to Be Made
By July 20.

WILL MAKE LABOR DAY PLANS

Labor Temple for Lima to Be Discussed Monday.

Lima railroad men, together with thousands of others over the country, are still awaiting the action of the railroad labor board, which is expected to give its decision on the wage question shortly. While July 20 has been named as the date when the terms of the award will be made known, it is the opinion of some local railroad men that a few more days are likely to elapse after that date before the terms of the decision are made known. All schedules, however, will be retroactive to May 1, so nothing will be lost by anyone on account of a short delay.

Judge Hartin, chairman of the labor board, who had been urged by the president to make at least a partial settlement of the questions before it, has issued a statement to the effect that such a course would be impossible, and that the board had decided to make one final decision, which would apply to every branch of railroad employment. The chairman also stated that the board is holding daily meetings in Chicago in order to finish its great task.

Regarding the recent "outlaw" strikes of yardmen, which were called as protests against further delay of the wage settlement, President W. G. Lee, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in a statement issued in Chicago, said: "With the promise of a wage scale decision before July 20, there is no reason for further discussion in our ranks. Already we have taken back $5,000 of the 30,000 men who were expelled, and will take back others who make proper amends."

A charter has been granted by the Treasury department at Washington to the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers for the establishment of a national co-operative bank. A company will be organized and it is expected to start business with a capital of $1,000,000, which is immediately available from reserves in the treasury of the brotherhood. The site for the new bank building was recently purchased opposite B. of L. E. headquarters in Cleveland. Branches will be established later in railroad centers, it is said.

What is expected to be an exceptionally well attended meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, will be held on next Tuesday evening, in the assembly room of the Court House. Important matters will be taken up for consideration, among them the question as to what form of Labor Day celebration will be put on in Lima. A special letter was sent to all locals last month, requesting that a full quota of delegates be present at this meeting, and a committee has also been at work urging delegates to be more regular in attendance.

The regular meeting of Lima Typographical Union, which was postponed from last Sunday, on account of the holiday, will be held today in Douze hall.

Important matters in connection with the Lima Temple company will come up Monday evening when the directors hold their monthly meeting at the office of Treasurer C. E. Tompkins, Sherwood building.

Installation of officers for the coming year will take place when Local Union No. 472, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners meets Monday evening. A big attendance is anticipated as much activity is being displayed at present in affairs of the organization. Officers who will take their posts for the coming year are as follows: President, Forest Baker; vice-president, C. J. Bruskotte; treasurer, G. B. Himes; financial secretary, E. W. Jones; recording secretary, Lawrence Ambrose; warden, S. E. Barber; conductor, R. A. Rugg; trustees, Wm. L. Dickey, Jack Moffitt, Grover Dick, Business Agent, G. A. Smith, who looks after all outside affairs for the carpenters, states that the only difficulty he is having at present is that of furnishing enough men to do the season's building.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Myers, who are making an extended tour of the west, are now located at Longmont, Colo. Mr. Myers was the popular secretary of the Journeymen Barbers' Union up until the time of his departure, several weeks ago.

At Friday night's meeting of the Machinists' Union, a delegate was elected to represent the local lodge at the national convention of the International Association of Machinists, which will be held in Rochester, New York, in September. Harry Leidner, North-st., was chosen as delegate, while Henry G. McGrady, of S. Main-st., was named as alternate. Under instructions of his lodge, Mr. Leidner will work for the establishment of the universal 8-hour day in the metal industry, while at the convention.

ADVERTISING CLUB TO BOOST FOR POSTOFFICE
A meeting of the committee appointed by President Maurice Rosenbloom of the Lima Advertising Club for promotion of a new post office building for Lima, will be called early this week.

Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt, chairman of the committee, in making this announcement said he is having figures compiled at the local post office now preparatory to launching an intensive publicity campaign as soon as possible.

Burkhardt said the entire committee will be taken on the ground and a thorough inspection made, that they may know the exact requirements of a post office building for Lima and the limitations of the present structure.

Defiance—Josiah Botkins, farmer 55 is placed in county jail pending coroner's inquest, following death of Arthur, three year old child of Botkins' housekeeper, Mrs. Ida May Bullock, said to have died as result of beating with harness tug at the hand of Botkins.

PIKE'S PEAK SCALED 100 YEARS AGO; COLORADO TO CELEBRATE THE EVENT

Pike's Peak from Colorado Springs and (below) a glimpse of the automobile highway that leads to the top.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—The 100th anniversary of the first ascent of Pike's Peak will be celebrated in Colorado Springs on July 14, when special exercises will be held at the summit and along the automobile highway that climbs eighteen miles over a serpentine route to the top, 14,110 feet above sea level. Although Lieut. Zebulon M. Pike, the explorer, first discovered Pike's Peak in 1806, he never scaled the mountain, deeming the task impossible. But Dr. Frank James, a member of the expedition of Major Long in 1820, essayed the feat on July 14, 1820, making the journey from Fountain Creek, near Colorado Springs, to the summit. Major Long in honor of James' accomplishment, named the peak "James Peak," but as early as 1840 trappers and plainsmen named it "Pike's Peak" and the name remained.

Since then 2,000,000 persons have visited the summit, it is estimated, the crowds of tourists in the last twenty-five years forming the bulk. In 1878 a bridge path was built, a wagon road to the summit was built in 1880 and in 1901 the cog wheel railroad, nine miles long, was built. Burros were used also at that time.

In 1916 the present automobile road was built at a cost of $300,000 after two years of construction work and many difficulties, especially in getting labor. This road is eighteen miles long, rises 6,695 feet in that distance, has an average grade of 7 percent and a maximum grade of 10 1/2 percent, with 42 percent of the line in curves. It is twenty feet wide with curves as wide as fifty feet.

In April, 1919 a government tank attempted to climb the Peak over the automobile highway, but could not get over the deep snowdrifts. However, a month later a caterpillar, used for artillery hauling, made the summit without difficulty.

On August 3, 1919, an airplane piloted by Alexander Lomond of Colorado Springs, made a successful trip over the summit of the Peak.

Pike's Peak is eight miles in an air line from Colorado Springs and the greater part of the mountains is controlled by the city of Colorado Springs for its watershed.

Walking races, burro races and motorcycle races have been made to the top, and many noted race drivers including Ralph Mulford, Eugene Oldfield, Hughie Hughes, took part in the automobile races in 1916. Mulford made the best time for the twelve mile course from Crystal Creek to the summit, this being 18 minutes and 25 seconds.

In September the auto hill climb contest, which was discontinued during the war period, will be resumed, as well as an airplane race around the Peak from Denver.

NEW YORK CITY WAGES
WAR ON MILLION CATS
NEW YORK—Just because New York's 1920 census figures didn't mention the feline population is no reason why the rest of the country should believe there are no cats here.

As a matter of fact there are more cats in the greater city than there are people in Detroit, according to more or less official figures compiled by the municipal health department. The number of felines is placed at about 1,000,000 by the officials, although the layman would be apt to place the figure at about 10,000,000 after listening to nocturnal howlers on the back fence.

At any rate Puss is disgruntled; and well may be. For among other things now going on in New York is an anti-cat campaign, designed to rid the city of an alleged menace to the public health. Thousands of stray mousers without visible means of support are being rounded up by cat-catchers from the city hall and exterminated via the poison gas route.

Up to time of going to press only one defender has risen to object to the wholesale pogroms. He is Dean W. H. Hoskins of the veterinary department of New York University, who contends the city's health is in no great danger from cats.

Cox Picked as Winner

WASHINGTON.—The electoral dope artists of the administration figure Governor Cox as a sure winner. This is how they do it.

There are 526 votes in the electoral college; 264 are necessary for nomination.

Four years ago President Wilson received 277 votes, and Justice Hughes 254. Wilson won with a majority of 23 votes.

The administration calculates now count for Cox: The solid south, 191 votes; New York, 45; New Jersey, 14; Illinois, 29; Indiana, 15; and Ohio 24, a grand total of 318.

RIVER BOND ISSUE BOOSTED
Civic Bodies to Unite in Effort at August Primaries.

Emmett E. Everett, chairman of the Ottawa river improvement committee of the Lima chamber of commerce has announced that an extensive publicity campaign to assure the passage of the river improvement bond issue at the August primaries will be launched within the coming week.

Funds have been provided by the chamber of commerce to finance the project to a limited extent, he said, and a meeting of the committee will be called early this week to decide on a definite plan of action.

S. S. Fisher, of the real estate firm of Michael and Fisher, a member of the committee is one of Lima's strongest boosters for river improvement. No stone will be left unturned to put the bond issue across at the August primaries, he said.

The Lima advertising club has taken a hand in the promotion of the bond issue and R. E. Ashby has been appointed to co-operate with the chamber of commerce committee as the club's representative. President Maurice Rosenbloom said Saturday. Rosenbloom said the activities of the ad club will include personal solicitation of members, in addition to an intensive advertising campaign. "It is of the greatest importance for the growth development and beauty of the city that this measure carry when placed before the voters," he said.

Secretary John R. Ackerman, of the East Side Welfare Association, will represent the association in all meetings of the chamber of commerce committee. This association is said to be 100 per cent in favor of river improvement and will co-operate in every way possible to put the bond issue across. W. B. Wilcox, of the east side fire department and prominent members of the association said a meeting may be called Tuesday to formulate plans for aiding other civic bodies of the city in conducting an educational campaign as to the importance of the issue's passage.

WAITERS JOBS SOUGHT BY VIENNA GENERALS
FRANKFURT-ON-MAIN.—Hotel porter and hotel waiter rank as "elites" among "professionals" in Vienna, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung. Hotel porters and waiters have an average yearly income of 100,000 kronen. Other scales follow:

Cobblers, 30,000 kronen; tailors, 30,000 kronen; carpenters, 45,000 kronen; university professors with more than twenty years' service receive 40,000 kronen.

The municipal director of Vienna is paid 37,000 kronen annually. Higher court officials and laborers in the gas works are paid 28,000 kronen, canal dredgers receive 22,000 kronen.

"What is the result?" demands the Frankfurter Zeitung. "Among the applicants for the position of porter in a large Vienna hotel were one major-general, three colonels and many lieutenant colonels. And this isn't Soviet Russia, but in Vienna, in German Austria."

JUSTICE WORKED FAST
FRANKFURT.—Justice worked fast in Kansas. "Herb" Lilly, who confessed to the slaying of Mrs. William Bryant, found dead on her doorstep a few days ago, was given a life sentence in the penitentiary, after a trial lasting only ten minutes. Deputy sheriffs and American Legion men guarded the court room.

JOKER IN SEN. JOHNSON'S PLEDGE, REPORT

considerable doubt here as to what will be Cox's real attitude. Of course, northern California is well and is already inclined to Cox for that reason. If the Ohio governor makes a campaign which leaves the broad inference that he is for the west side of the argument, he may recruit voters in the northern section of the state irrespective of his views on the League of Nations. But if Harding or Cox wishes to make sure of southern California, which can easily be the pivotal factor in winning the state's electoral vote and possibly the whole election, a clear-cut statement of the league issue would clarify matters considerably.

And if Senator Harding doesn't interpret the Republican platform, he may rest assured Hiram Johnson will do it for him in just such a statement as he has already issued.

A few more such interpretations and Harding may well begin to worry about California repeating what she did in 1916.

PYTHIANS TO HOLD MEMORIAL

Honored Dead to Be Remembered in Beautiful Service.

The Lima Knights of Pythians will hold an impressive memorial service Sunday afternoon at their lodgerooms.

A beautiful part of the service is a huge electrical emblem constructed by J. C. Sweeney. It is a large wheel, being twelve feet in diameter. Inside the wheel two triangles have been constructed, one of them having a nine foot side, the other smaller. The larger circle is composed of white lights to represent the members gathered in the hall. Between the circle and the top of the large triangle the color is yellow. On the other two sides the colors are red and blue, respectively. There are 24 colored lights in the emblem, each representing a member that has died. The smaller triangle is composed of nine white lights standing for the deceased members of the Pythian Sisters. White is their emblem of purity. The audience will be placed in a big circle in front of the emblem. As the roll is called a light will go out for each of the members that has died.

MEETS EARL OF ONSLOW WITH BULL RING, STICK
LONDON.—The Earl of Onslow, new lord-in-waiting to the king, once much rural fame, which he owes to his love of outdoor life. In this connection he tells a good story.

A famous stockbreeder once named a prize bull after me," he said in an after-dinner speech. Having invited me to visit his farm he wired his messiah to meet the train with the bull. "Am bringing Earl of Onslow with me."

"The bull turned up at the station with a ring and a stick instead of an automobile.

"He thought of the bull and not of me."

DEMOCRAT DATA IS COMPILED

Will Be Submitted to Governor Cox at Washington.

WILSON TO PRESENT VIEWS

League, Taxation and Foreign Trade Leading Topics.

WASHINGTON.—Data which will form much of the ground work for Democratic arguments in the coming presidential campaign was being rapidly gathered and compiled here Saturday. This data will be submitted to Governor James H. Cox, Democratic presidential candidate when he comes here and it is expected to be the basis of a discussion between Cox and Wilson at their proposed conference.

The proposed conference is on three subjects—the league of nations, taxation and foreign trade.

At the White House it is said emphatically that no conflict between Cox and Wilson is expected on the league of nations issue and that the discussion of this subject between the president and the candidate will be in the nature of an expression of views by Cox and the giving of information by Wilson who, of course, knows all circumstances surrounding the framing and intent of the document.

COX RESERVATIONS
Cox is said to have two reservations declaring that the United States interprets the league as a war preventive only and stating that this country can enter no war except by consent of congress. At the White House, Saturday, it was indicated that Wilson considers these reservations interpretative and therefore will not object to them.

It is recalled here Saturday, however, that while Wilson has previously indicated that he would not object to certain reservations he had steadfastly held that he cannot actively support those same reservations. He is said to take the view that he helped draw up and sign the league covenant in Europe and to support changes in it now would be in the nature of a breach of faith on his part.

For this reason, it was regarded as possible that while Wilson would not object to the Cox reservations and would support them passively, he might not desire to openly urge their adoption but simply confine his league arguments to support the covenant against Republican attacks.

COX ON TAXATION
It is understood here that Cox's views on taxation run very closely to those of the administration, which has urged simplification of tax laws and dropping the excess profits tax.

Various government departments can furnish an array of facts on foreign trade, a subject said to be close to Cox's heart and one he considers bound up with the league of nations issue.

In addition to a discussion of campaign discussions Cox and Wilson are expected to work out some sort of a division of labor for the coming presidential battle.

The general line of this plan will probably call for Wilson issuing statements at various times for "his back porch" campaign and Cox stumping the country.

INTENSIVE FARMING BEGINS IN FAR EAST

PEKING.—China is going in for agriculture on a highly intensified plan, according to an announcement first made by a company comprising fifty officials and men of big business interests in this part of the country. The first step is to be the inauguration of an experimental farm and school for training agricultural leaders.

Dr. J. A. Stuart, president of the Peking Union University, has volunteered to assist in dealing the project, which is fostered by Chin Shuncho, a prominent Peking business man. Among the men associated in a half-million dollar corporation which is founding the project are Hsu Shi-chang, director-general of the Tientsin-Peking Railway, Chow Tze-chi, director-general of the currency bureau, Chang Hu, vice-minister of finance, and many others of similar influence.

NO PAPERS FOR ALIENS

GUTHRIE, Okla.—Alien slackers are in bad in this county. In United States District Court here Judge Cotteral refused to grant citizenship papers to G. A. Schlemmer and Samuel Dagan, who claimed exemption during the war and registered as alien enemies.

According to Judge Cotteral, a man who refuses to aid the country in which he lives and thrives, and that country needs help, should be returned whence he came.

THIS RACE ON ICE
PERICO SPRINGS, Mo.—Jesus Bays, aged resident of this place, never hesitated to "take a chance" on a horse race, but he refused to take one on being buried alive.

In accordance with Bays' dying wishes, his body was packed in ice for three days and then buried without being embalmed.

Bays, who at the time of his death was on the sunny side of 80, was well known in the southwest part of the state as a race horse owner.

FARMERS TOO BUSY
PURCELL, Okla.—Legal affairs took a "back seat" for growing crops here the other day. Because more than three-fourths of the men called for jury duty were farmers, Judge Johnson dismissed the panel with the statement that jury cases could wait until after harvest.

BOYCOTT HELPS
BOSTON.—A housewives' boycott of bottled fruit in a general reduction in wholesale prices in the Boston market.

Best headquarters sell for thirty-three cents, a reduction of four cents in a week. The reduction is general in all cuts.

Ada Mayor Given Initiation

The presence of a strange fire truck in Lima Friday night is explained by dispatches from Ada that Mayor Harry Soussy, recently married to Miss Lela McElroy, was conveyed here in that manner as a part of his initiation into the Benedict Club. Other indignities to which the chief executive was subjected as a part of his initiation, included being forced to act as traffic policeman on the main street of Ada while clad in a bathing suit.

unequivocal position before the nation of being uninterested in and antagonistic to peace and the development of the nation's commerce and industrial affairs."

Preliminary work on the candidate's speech of acceptance has been started by the complication of surveys of the main issues. Cox and Roosevelt will confer at the state house in Columbus Monday, while Sunday the governor will receive the first report by an eye witness of the long battle at San Francisco. Judge T. T. Ansberry and wife, of Washington, D. C., will spend the day at "Trails End."

Next week, it is expected that many of the preliminary campaign plans will be made in conferences with state and national leaders at Columbus. Cox Saturday declined on the keynote speech of Allen McCurdy, temporary chairman of the "third party" convention, which denounced both old line parties.

Invitation for Cox speeches continue to pour in, one Saturday night to Harold Weber, Toledo, winner of the tournament of the Ohio State Golf Association.

Saturday afternoon the candidate spent on the golf links, displaying a brand of golf which was considerably off his usual form. Once he tore up a big piece of sod/moving the ball only a few feet, but instead of the usual vitriolic expressions of golfers, Cox, with a worried look, simply said: "I wonder how I happened to do that."

Several times, he drove into the rough.

Between national conventions and state golf tournaments, this foursome is shot to pieces," Cox commented, evidently chagrined at his play. The governor played with Albertus Augustus, Jr., Cleveland. Frank Hill Smith and Lee Warren James, of Dayton.

PINCHOT LOOMS IN NEW PARTY

May Be the Nominee—Committee of 48 Organizers.

HOTEL MORRISON, CHICAGO.—The national convention of the Committee of 48, complete permanent organization of its convention here Saturday night and adjourned at 7:20 p. m. to Monday, 9 a. m. after deciding to hold a public mass meeting Saturday night and agreeing to the appointment by the chairman of a special committee to confer with the Non-Partisan League members.

Ten additional members of the conference committee were selected by the convention but the tally had not been completed when the convention adjourned. The platform committee held its meeting after adjournment, at which it perfected organization.

CONFERENCE TODAY
Gilbert Roe, personal representative of Senator Robert M. LaFollette, will confer with members of the Committee of 48 and the American Labor Party Sunday regarding the proposal to offer the "third party" presidential nomination to LaFollette. A wire was received from Roe in Madison Saturday, asking that a time for the meeting be set. Meanwhile, various factions began openly expressing opposition to either LaFollette or Ford. The candidate apparently receiving the most approbation from all groups was Amos Pinchot, with George Record of New Jersey, and Charles H. Ingersoll, the watch manufacturer, next in order.

Formation of a new "third party" thru coalition of the principal liberal and radical groups in the country hinges entirely upon the ability of the Committee of 48 to draft a platform acceptable to all factions. It was learned on authoritative sources Saturday night.

An effective working agreement preliminary to drawing up the declaration of principles have failed, it was said, and all negotiations were at an impasse, all organizations waiting to see who gets the jump.

SPLIT ON MINES

According to reliable information representatives of the Forty Eighters and the Labor Party forming a liaison committee, finally split upon the question of nationalization of mines.

The former were reported to have agreed to government ownership of railways and the telegraph and telephone lines, but insisted that while the government should own the land upon which mines were located, the leases should be held by individuals. The laborites were understood to have replied that this was a "cop" in the Single Tax Party.

Members of the latter organization, however, expressed dissatisfaction with the proposed plank, declaring it did not coincide with Single Tax principles either.

As matters stood Saturday night when the Committee of 48 convention reconvened, the Single Taxers will continue the convention they opened Saturday morning, while the Labor Party will start its own convention Sunday. Both groups after affecting permanent organizations will mark time until the Forty Eighters complete their platform. Then the Laborites and Single Taxers, as well as the Non-Partisan League, "World War Veterans" and other organizations, will seek to amend the Forty Eight platform so as to incorporate their own ideas.

VICTORY IS SCORED BY GERMANS

Win on Coal Question in Parley at Spa.

SPA, Belgium.—Three of the principal problems facing the allied and German delegates meeting here have been disposed of since beginning of the meetings last Monday, leaving only the matter of German reparations to be settled at the next sitting. It was believed the conference would rest over Sunday and resume negotiations early Monday.

An exchange between the German foreign ministers, Herr Simons, and Premier Lloyd George during Saturday's discussion of the coal question resulted in a diplomatic victory for the former. Simons told the British premier defiantly that Germany could not possibly meet the allied conditions regarding delivery of coal. He demanded that a committee of investigation be appointed. After consulting with other allied leaders, Lloyd George announced that it had been decided to place the coal question in the hands of a mixed commission of allied and German experts for final settlement.

QUESTIONS DISPOSED OF

Altho the meetings here had a rather inauspicious beginning when the German delegation came to Monday's conference with Dr. Gessler and General Von Seeck for discussion of the disarmament, this question was settled by the Germans' acceptance of the allied ultimatum granting a six-months extension of the time in which Germany must meet the terms of the peace treaty.

The question of prosecution of German officers and men guilty of crimes against international laws during the war was disposed of when it was agreed that the allies should submit additional evidence against the accused men and that their trials would be conducted as soon as possible at Leipzig. It was understood the question of indemnities which is the next and last question on the conference program has been agreed upon between Great Britain, France and Italy. The basis for this agreement was reported to be that France would receive five per cent of the total, Great Britain 23 and Italy 10 per cent. The remainder would be divided among Belgium, Poland, Rumania and the other allies.

Belgium has protested that unless she obtains priority in payment of the indemnity, she will repudiate her signature to the peace treaty, thus making the Versailles pact void. No danger of such an eventuality was seen Saturday night, as neither Premier Lloyd George nor Millerand have intimated a desire to deprive Belgium of this priority.

Count Storza, Italian foreign minister, was understood to be willing to accept ten per cent of the total indemnity from Germany on condition that Italy receive 25 per cent of the money received from Hungary and Bulgaria as reparations.

RUSSIANS UNITED BY "IMPERIALISTIC" POLES

NEW YORK.—Poland's defeat before the offensive of the soviet armies cannot be taken as proof of invulnerable power by the Bolsheviks. During the French revolution invading armies were likewise driven from the soil of France, but in the end Robespierre and his visionaries were overthrown. Poland's challenge to the Bolsheviks was accepted by all Russian irrespective of party or class alignments. That is why the Poles have been so disastrously defeated. Poland's military adventure in Russia was purely imperialistic. The Poles wanted to annex all Galicia, with its rich oil fields and desired to make Russia permanently weak, by separating Ukraine from north Russia.

This design was conceived under the Prussian spirit, but the Poles failed where the Prussians themselves would have failed. The Polish invasion had the effect of prolonging the rule of the Bolsheviks rather than ending it. It has united all the Russian factions. Not Bolsheviks generals but generals of the old regime, well-lauged by the years of fighting against Von Hindenburg.

"It is not to Russia's interest to arouse a fresh spirit of hostility among the western powers. The United States has just permitted a resumption of trade relations with Russia. Great Britain will shortly do the same. The future is beginning to brighten for Russia after the terrible agony she has suffered. Quick peace with everybody, therefore, is what Russia needs. The Moscow commissaries have shown a realization of this fact. If they follow a right policy now they will do all they can to get back a little of the western world's confidence. This, they can do by giving Poland a just peace and making no effort to spread Bolshevik propaganda thru Poland into Germany."

MEN AND MATTERS
All members of the W. O. W. in Lima are requested to be present at an important meeting to be held at the hall Monday evening, July 12.

C. D. Ginter, 133 N. Collett-st., has gone to Mayor Brothers' clinic, Rochester, Minn. for treatment. Mr. Ginter has not been in good health for some time.

FIGHTING IS CHARGED
Harold Jennings, 18, laborer, 431 N. McDonel-st. and Willis Morton, 18, 607 N. Jackson-st., were arrested by Patrolman Ramsey at Main and Wayne-sts Saturday evening on a charge of fighting. Jennings was released on $15 bond.

LAKE SHIPS CLOSE CHANNEL
ERIE, Pa.—Two giant lake ore carriers, grounded side by side and have completely closed the channel at this port Saturday night. The steamer John J. Barlum and the Louis R. Davidson, grounded in 12 feet of water Saturday evening. Large tugs have been ordered from Buffalo to endeavor to pull them off.

FOUR WIVES GET THEIR FREEDOM

One Divorce Case Is Taken Under Advisement.

VARIOUS STORIES OF 'WOMEN'

Not a Man Appeared to Contest In Any Suit.

Five wives poured their tales of woe into the listening ears of Judge William Klinger Saturday, bent on securing a divorce. Four were awarded decrees and the court took one under advisement. Not one husband contested the cases in court.

Mrs. Bessie P. McMillen was separated from Fred P. McMillen, who served time in the Mansfield reformatory for forgery, on the grounds of extreme cruelty and neglect. She was restored to her maiden name of Bessie Davis and must pay court costs.

They were married in Newport, Ky., November, 1914, lived together awhile in Toledo and when convicted for forgery, he was sent to the reformatory. During all her married life, she said, she worked to support herself. They have no children.

Mrs. Rachael Chloco was granted a decree from Charles W. Chilcoat, employed by Peck Smith near Oak Grove cemetery, St. Marys. Chilcoat placed their boy, Leo, 10, in the Children's Home at Sidney. He threatened her life, she testified. They were married in St. Marys in March, 1906, and for seven years have lived separated. She was awarded the decree on grounds of desertion.

Habitual drunkenness was the grounds for the decree of Amanda Stanfield from D. F. Stanfield. He is an employee of the Garford Motor Truck Company and resides at 213 W. Fourth-st. She testified he squandered his money in riotous living. She was restored to her former name of Amanda Couples. They were married in Windsor, Canada, in September, 1911, and have no children.

Mrs. Artemesia Washington was divorced from Alex. Washington on the grounds of desertion. They were married in Carlton, Ky., in March, 1886, and have three living children, all married and self-supporting. He has been absent, she testified, nearly 15 years in Carlton, Ky.

Mrs. Mina Dillon told how her husband, W. D. Dillon would not work and failed to provide her a home and support. "When ever he could get liquor, he was sure to get drunk," she told the court. Calling her names and striking and abusing her was his favorite pastime of his, she said.

His whereabouts are unknown. They were married in Lima on Thanksgiving day, 1918, and have no children. Judge Klinger reserved his decision.

Mrs. Emma Hurst, 316 1-2 N. Main-st., answering the divorce petition of her husband Amel, said he was of a quarrelsome disposition and continually found fault with her. He accused her falsely, she alleges, in the presence of their two grown children, who live with her, of immoral conduct. He has been spending her inheritance of $700 freely, she charges.

Hurst in his suit, said she ordered him away February 6, last, and that he took her at her word and left. They were married in Deshler in January, 1887.

DOPE AGENT TOOK ALL SORTS OF FOOD IN TRADE FOR HIS COMMODITY

TOLEDO, O. — Federal agents who arrested Fred Valentine on a charge of selling drugs, say they found in his home in a swamp district near here, meat, sugar and potatoes which the prisoner declares addicts gave him in exchange for morphine. Valentine says he supported his wife and small child by this sort of bartering. He was locked up in the county jail.

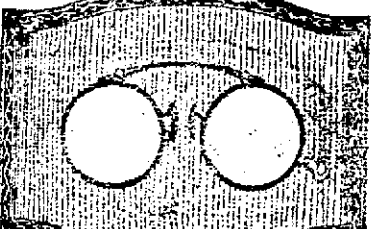

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS, FORUM LUNCHEON TOPIC

"Industrial Relations" is to be the subject of a lecture by Sherman Rogers of the staff of the Outlook at the noonday forum luncheon of the Lima chamber of commerce for July, to be held at the Lima house, Thursday, July 15.

Rogers is said to be one of the most thorough students of industrial relations between employers and employees in the United States, in addition to being a convincing speaker. Only one forum luncheon will be held in August after which they will be resumed on the regular bi-monthly schedule.

Vacation Time Is Here and Public Servants and Ministers Plan to Spend Them at Various Places In Search of Rest and Quiet

July, with its lazy weather, and August, with its dog days, is calling to employees shut up in dingy offices to wood, field, brook and lake.

Custom for years has decreed that each should take a couple of weeks off, when the minute details and constant grind could be forgotten. It's no easy task to be shut off for 12 months, doing nothing but figurin' and being nice to people who call and performing other tasks.

So, with the vacation idea in view, officials and employees of city and county and Lima ministers have the following to say of vacationing:

CHARLES W. BAXTER, co-sheriff: "I am taking no vacation. I must be on the job, as there is no getting away from this place."

ROBERT W. POLING, court bailiff: "If you'd pay my way, you couldn't coax me to go on a vacation. I've worked on the farm for as much as 10 years at a time and never took a vacation. I couldn't bear to sit around like they do, usually. But if my wife persists, we may drive up to the lake for a day or so."

MISS ELLA JACKSON, deputy co-clerk of courts: "I get my vacation next week. I am just remaining at home this year."

MISS RUTH CALLAHAN, clerk in sheriff's office: "Up to Mackinac Island. Just a girl friend of mine and myself. We know we will have a delightful time."

BERNARD HALLORAN, commissioner's clerk: "Right at this desk mostly. This is the one job where no vacation is in view. There is no one to relieve me. I like my work very well—it is enough vacation for me."

MISS MAYME DUGGAN, marriage license clerk: "We know better than to ask for a vacation in this office, with Judge Becker campaigning and Deputy Robert B. Tolan out for votes for probate judge."

MRS. CLARA DOUGLAS, deputy in clerk's office: "Up to Chicago to visit a friend of mine who has sent such urgent letters, requesting me to come for a visit."

CLARENCE PRÄUNFELTER, deputy co-sheriff: "I'm getting my vacation this week—making hay on my father's farm. Some vacation."

MISS HELEN DICKMAN, assistant court stenographer: "I am going to Russell's Point the last week in July and the first week in August, with my family, for an outing. I went there last year and had such a delightful time, we selected the spot again."

JULIUS CALLAHAN, probate officer: "I just got back Saturday from Chicago, where I had been with the Elks. This was the biggest part of my vacation. I'm feeling mighty happy to know old Lima Lodge, No. 54, of Elks, took second prize for our float in the big parade down the Windy City."

ROBERT F. CLEM, deputy co-clerk: "I didn't get a vacation last year. I felt good and didn't think I needed it. But after caring for the minute details in this office, I can assure you I am going to take a vacation this year. I don't know where I'm going, but I'll soon be on my way."

FRED C. BECKER, probate judge: "I only had one vacation while I've held this office. None for me this year. I will spend all my spare time, asking the voters for their support for common pleas judge at the coming primaries."

MISS PHRONIA MURRAY, clerk in the probate court and assistant in the probate office: "I do not know, there is too much work in both offices now to think of a vacation. I hope I may, though."

MRS. FETH, wife of Custodian of Court-house: "Our son is now on a vacation. I do not think Mr. Feth and I will enjoy that privilege this year. It keeps us pretty close here."

CHARLES R. PHILLIPS, co-auditor: "I can see no vacation in sight. We are too busy in this office, but I want my employees to have a vacation, if we can arrange it. I handle all the bills and contracts and look after the tax-payers' money end myself, while E. C. Akerman, deputy, takes care of the taxation end. We must be on the job every minute."

ROBERT B. TOLAN, deputy probate judge: "I am too busy seeing the voters of Allen-co to even think of a vacation, for I desire their support of my candidacy for, probate judge and I wish to meet them personally and tell them so."

MISS PAULINE POORE, clerk in auditor's office: "We are making up the tax duplicate and are too busy to even think of a vacation. I am counting on nothing of the kind."

CITY EMPLOYEES

The methods of spending the vacation period allowed all city employees during the summer months are as numerous as are the employees. Quite a number of them have already taken advantage of a week end, or more at some popular bathing beach, and expect to use up their entire vacation period in short installments of this kind, but the majority will leave Lima during July and August for some place where they can forget the affairs of the office for a fortnight.

MAYOR F. A. BURKHARDT: "I wish to fish again in Michigan. I expect to motor to Crystal Lake, Michigan, with my family sometime in August and spend two weeks fishing and picking blackberries. I have already written to friends there to find out when blackberries will be ripe. I have spent my vacation at this place for the past three years."

CITY AUDITOR DAVID L. RUPERT: "It has so happened that I have been too busy to take a vacation every summer since I have been in the employ of the city. This year the state examiner is here and may not complete his work before the last of August, so I suppose I will miss another vacation."

FIRE CHIEF JOHN MACK: "I expect to take my summer vacation when I go to the International Fire Chiefs' Association convention at Toronto July 26 to 30. The remainder of the time after the convention is completed I will spend in sight-seeing."

ASSISTANT FIRE CHIEF CLEM ELSTER: "I spent my vacation at Detroit."

INCLINED TO MAKE MEXICO DRY

But "Boy President" May "Pass the Buck"

CITY OF MEXICO — Mexico's "boy president," Adolfo de la Huerta, is keeping his people guessing on one of the subjects dearest to their hearts. This is the question of "alcoholism."

"Alcoholism," translated into American, represents Mexico's booze problem. As governor of the state of Sonora, De la Huerta also became sponsor for the state of aridity that prevailed for some time in the territory under his jurisdiction. When the Sonora Governor moved into Mexico City to succeed Carranza as president, he was preceded by the rumor that he would attempt to enforce prohibition in the capital.

This report gained credence when, for nearly a week after his arrival, the capital's cantinas were closed by the authorities. Later they were permitted to reopen, the government explaining that the closing order had been issued only because there were large numbers of troops in the city and it was desired to avoid all possibility of disorder during the critical days when the new regime was being born.

But in theory at least President De la Huerta sticks to his dry principles. When he entertained a group of Mexican reporters at luncheon recently, he was asked to define his attitude toward prohibition.

Whereupon the President spoke at length upon the malignant influence which "alcoholism" exerted upon the Mexican people. In contrast to conditions in Mexico, he cited statistics to prove that prohibition had decreased the amount of crime in the United States.

"Universal benefit is derived from prohibition," the President concluded, "and eventually it should be adopted in the whole of Mexico, just as it has been enforced in the Republic on our North."

The President made this statement just as the coffee and cognac were being served to his guests and the reporters apparently decided that discretion and a sense of gratitude would not permit further questioning on the prohibition issue.

When, a week later, the President was host to the foreign correspondents, the latter did not even suggest the question. Cocktails, two kinds of Mexican cognac, and liquors steered the conversation into other channels.

While it is known that De la Huerta looks to the day when his country will be as dry as the Chihuahuan desert, it is not believed he plans any radical step in that direction. Any attempt at sudden enforcement of prohibition is deemed unwise, because of the hostility it would create among the people. Financially, a prohibition move would be considered a mistake at this time, because of the immense revenue derived from the sale of pulque. Therefore, De la Huerta is only "provisional president." His term expires at the end of the year, when the newly elected president takes office. This offers sound justification for "passing the buck."

The government, however, has shown its hand along other lines of reform. In the interim between the flight of Carranza and the formation of a new government, Mexico City was wide open. Particularly was this true of gambling, roulette, baccarat and monte flour-

MAN AND WOMAN ARE KILLED WHEN PLANE FALLS

SALIBURY BEACH, Mass.

Mrs. Long, wife of Richard H. Long, a prominent Massachusetts politician and a recent candidate for governor and Lieutenant Gordon Groah, of Lynn, Mass., were killed Saturday afternoon, when their airplane crashed to the ground. Gaston Gornoriet, mechanic, was seriously injured. Hundreds of spectators witnessed the accident.

WEIGHED 623 POUNDS JANUARY 1; NOW DOWN TO 347 BY WORKING

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — Emory Titman, who a year ago claimed all records for weight for his age, has cashed in enough bets to keep him in smokes for another year no matter what "reformers" do to the "weed." January 1 Titman, then weighing 623 pounds, decided to reduce. His friends teased him, and he began to wage cigars that he would be down to 400 by his thirty-first birthday. He volunteered as a laundryman and worked almost continuously in the steam room. The fat began to roll off, and then he went about among his friends waging more cigars that he would be down to 350 by July. These friends gathered about him as he got on the scales and looked on in amazement when the dial registered 347. His rigorous training course had knocked off 276 pounds in seven months.

Best on the Market Says Lima Man

Tells How Five Years Suffering Was Relieved By the Pleading Action of Nerv-Worth.

"I have been suffering for five years with kidney and liver trouble, and my stomach and nerves also bothered me," said Frank Harshbarger, R. F. D. No. 9, Lima, Ohio, "and I have used many medicines without results. After taking one bottle of Nerv-Worth, I began feeling better, and I can now sleep fine and I suffer no distress after eating. Gas and no longer forms on my stomach, and my kidneys are also working nicely. I think Nerv-Worth is one of the best medicines on the market, and can recommend it to all sufferers from stomach and nervous trouble. If you suffer, and will try Nerv-

Worth, you will be of the same opinion as Mr. Harshbarger, that Nerv-Worth is "the best medicine on the market." Nerv-Worth gives the desired results and gives them quickly, and for many years has been proving one of the most satisfactory of medicines. It acts in a sensible way to aid those suffering from stomach and nervous troubles. It neutralizes acids, drives out impurities, whets the appetite, aids digestion, nerve force and sleep, and at the same time, acts as a tonic and invigorates the entire system. It is pleasant to take, and contains nothing harmful. It is sold on a guarantee basis, and if after you have taken your first trial bottle, you are not satisfied, your money will be refunded. A WORD OR TWO ABOUT

Profiteering vs. Profits

HOW IT PAYS TO SELL SERVICEABLE, STYLISH SHOES at A FAIR PRICE

When we opened our store in Lima on April 3rd we established a policy which we have been able to carry out even better than we anticipated, thanks to the hearty support and patronage of the buying public.

Our policy is to sell only the best grades of shoes at a saving of $2 to $3 on every pair, giving you the best possible service in fitting your feet and courteous treatment. We make no misrepresentations in advertising or in the store as our shoes must sell on their merits only. We also guarantee our shoes and refund money cheerfully if you are not satisfied.

In other words we make it a pleasure to spend money with us.

From Lima Daily News, Thursday, July 8.

Michael J. Leach, editor, News and Times-Democrat, Lima.

Profiteering

THE STATE FAIR PRICE BOARD HAS RULED THAT A 35% PROFIT IS SUFFICIENT ON FOOTWEAR.

THE JUSTICE OF THIS DECISION IS A QUESTION, OWING TO THE VAST DIFFERENCE IN OVERHEAD, AMOUNT OF STOCK CARRIED, AMOUNT INVESTED AND THE VOLUME OF BUSINESS DONE BY A MERCHANT. THESE ITEMS ARE FACTORS IN DETERMINING WHAT WOULD BE A JUST PROFIT.

THEN AGAIN THERE ARE MERCHANTS WHO WANT TO GET ALL THEY CAN FOR SHOES, FIGURING THE PROFIT PER PAIR, AS THEY CANNOT EXPECT TO DO A VOLUME OF BUSINESS WHICH ONLY A FEW PEOPLE CAN AFFORD.

PROFIT LIMIT IN EFFECT JULY 10

Ohio Shoe Dealers Held to 35 Percent Margin

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press). Retail shoe dealers in Ohio after July 10, are allowed a maximum profit of 35 per cent over the wholesale price, according to a ruling Thursday by State Fair Price Commissioner John Pfeiffer. Thursday's price list pertains to the price of shoes only. The maximum profit of 35 per cent is allowed on men's and women's shoes. The profit allowed on children's shoes is less. In a statement, Commissioner Pfeiffer states that the profit allowed shoe dealers in Ohio is seven per cent less than that allowed dealers in any other state. According to Commissioner Pfeiffer's ruling, the price of all shoes or cartons containing shoes, must be marked in plain figures for the benefit of the purchaser. The use of plain figures, instead of secret marks known only to the dealer and clerks, will tend to discredit suspicion of the existence of profiteering, the commissioner explained.

BLACK HAND FEUD SEEN IN BATTLE; ONE DEAD

CLEVELAND — A black hand feud was believed Thursday to have precipitated the battle between Samuel Morana, 45, and three men, in which the former was riddled with bullets. Morana was found dead in the street. Three men, one of them wounded in the leg and all carrying revolvers, were arrested shortly after the duel. They denied knowledge of the death.

LIMA MINISTERS

A week or ten days at Winona Lake, Ind., where there is good music, lectures, fishing, "or anything that a man wants." Then a summer conference at Craigville, Mass. That is the summer vacation schedule for Rev. E. A. Watkins, of the First Christian Church of this city.

Here's the way other Lima ministers expect to spend their vacation: REV. O. P. HOFFMAN, Grace M. E. Church, will spend part of his time at Lakeside, O. "I will also go to my old home near Dayton to make a short visit with my mother."

REV. W. D. COLE, Trinity M. E. Church: "I may take a short automobile trip to Cleveland which will be merely for relaxation." REV. J. ALLEN CANBY, Central Church of Christ: "My plans are not completed yet. I may go to Chicago or Ann Arbor, Mich. I am going to change my work instead of resting."

REV. W. A. AISPACH, Calvary Reformed Church, has just returned from a trip to Lake George, in Indiana, and Michigan, where he found the fishing line. Later in the year he expects to go to his old home at Thoraville, O.

REV. JOHN KEENELEY, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, is now at his summer home at Rome City where he is having a great time fishing.

REV. A. E. RAY, Lutheran Church, will take a trip to Ashland, Wis., where he will probably take a journey on the lakes. Then he will go to Woodburn, Ind., to rest.

REV. T. W. HOERNEMANN, German Reformed Church, will attend some summer conferences and "just rest it possible."

REV. A. A. THOMAS will visit his daughter, Mrs. Ash, of Lakeside, where he will visit the near islands and towns. He also expects to do some fishing. Then he will go to Forest, O., where he will take a rest.

REV. L. R. MITCHELL, Second Baptist Church, will rest at Indianapolis, Ind.

REV. LEROY MCGEE, Fourth St. Baptist Church, will go to the Ohio Baptist Convention at Toledo.

REV. H. P. DUDLEY, South Lima Baptist Church, will attend Bible conferences at Cedar Lake and Winona Lake both in Indiana.

REV. DEATON, Epworth Methodist Church, will probably spend his vacation in the southern part of Ohio and in Kentucky, where he will rest, entering into "anything that is going on."

REV. W. C. SPAYDE, First Lutheran Church, will visit his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Spayde, at Harrisburg, Pa. His mother is seventy-eight years old and not in good health so Rev. Spayde hopes to spend all his vacation with her.

GLASS IN YOUNG BOY'S EYE CAUSES OPERATION

Teddy, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bash, Pittsburg, had his left eye removed at Rita's hospital at 11:30 Saturday evening as a result of injuries suffered when he fell thru a storm-buggy front at the home of J. E. Merz, Newmark, early Saturday evening.

Particles of glass in the boy's eye made the removal necessary. The lad was visiting friends in Ada with his mother, formerly Miss Maude Wolfson of Lima, and they were spending the evening Saturday with the Merz family in Newmark, immediately following the accident the boy was brought to Lima by automobile.

ORDERED INTO COURT — Frank Hunter, 15, 701 W. North-st, was instructed by police Saturday night to report in criminal court Monday on a charge of driving a motorcycle without lights or license.

PULP MATERIAL ROTTING — TWINS, GIOVANNI, N. H. — Thousands of fallen trees, suitable for pulp, are rotting in the White Mountains while newspapers throughout the country are being forced to curtail on account of the shortage of paper. City Federation Clubs Raise Funds to Aid Institution

Lima public library, which has seen a decrease in several departments the past year or more, is now being aided by organizations and generous people in every part of the city.

More than a year ago the City Federation of Women's clubs realized the lack of funds which for years has worked hardships on the board of directors of the Lima public library, as well as the 4 employees. They decided to offer their services in securing a fund of at least $1,000 for 3 years. This was at once accepted by the board and plans for a campaign for funds begun.

It was not until the last spring that work was carried out in earnest. Mrs. B. B. Ogilvie, as chairman of the library committee, was in charge. About $600 has been pledged thus far and many clubs, church societies, lodges and other organizations have yet to report.

More than 600 books have been added to the library. Donors were the Domestic Science club, with 49; Mrs. W. H. Roush, 49; O. O. Ober, 310; L. E. Stamata, 150; Mrs. A. Pfeiffer, 75; First Baptist church, 40; and many by individuals.

These books range from juveniles to the classics, scientific works and fiction, as well as history and travel which has helped students. Complete list of these books may be found on the library bulletin.

The past week the installment of books bought with the first $200 turned in by the federation of clubs arrived and are being placed on the shelves. They include fact and fiction, the list being compiled from requests made by different persons in various parts of the city.

There are at present in circulation 10,000 books of which 7,500 are adult and 2,500 juvenile books. There are also about 3,000 reference books and bound magazines, which is a small number for a city of approximately 50,000 people, as is Lima.

The average number of books taken out monthly runs from 3,500 to 5,000 and will be rapidly increased as new books are placed upon the shelves.

The Federation list is as follows:

LIMA BOOSTERS

(BY ROBERT J. DAVIS)

PROBATE Judge Fred C. Becker rightly heads the list of Lima boosters. Judge Becker, or "Fred," as he is more popularly known, was born here in 1875 and has lived here all his life. He expects to die here, too, because as he says, "Lima is the best town in the country."

The house where he was born is still standing near the E. High-st bridge.

Judge Becker was graduated from the Western Reserve law school at Cleveland in 1897 and practiced law here until '98, when he was elected mayor at the age of 23. He served one term, after which he practiced law again until 1925, when he was elected probate judge of Allen-co. He has manipulated the scales of justice in the probate court since.

The judge belongs to the Lima lodges of the Elks, Woodmen and Moose.

During the war, Judge Becker was chairman of the war chest campaign and had an active part in virtually all Allen-co war work.

In 1904 he married Caroline Jones, a Lima girl.

NURSING SERVICE FILES REPORT

Serious Cases Less During June Despite Weather

Officials of the Public Health Nursing Service of the Lima Red Cross are pleased with the report of that organization's activities and accomplishments for June, just issued, because there was a marked reduction in severe cases under observation and care, notwithstanding the fact that the weather conditions of that month were decidedly abnormal.

Miss Marie Mueller, the supervisor, reports that all the assisting factors are giving loyal service, and that the 659 calls made during the month were all accomplished without friction and in the modest manner characteristic of the Red Cross workers.

Number of cases under care on June 1st were 46. New cases received during the period, 85, making a total of 131 cases during the month. There were 55 cases dismissed, with 46 remaining on July 1st. Three patients were sent to the hospital; two died.

Headquarters of the Red Cross nursing division now maintained at Ohio Electric station will be removed to new rooms in a building near the Hotel Norval within a few weeks, as the traction officials are preparing to enlarge their offices and will need the room.

RALPH W. AUSTIN TO BE INAUGURATED AS PRESIDENT OF LIMA ROTARY CLUB

Gavel of Social Luncheon Organization Passes to Young Generation

MOTTO OF CLUB UNIQUE

Contrast Between Usual Objects Is Seen Where Service Only Is the Keynote

LIMA Rotary Club at its noon-hour luncheon Monday will inaugurate Ralph W. Austin, motor engineer, as its sixth president. Rotary in Lima was born on January 14, 1915, with seven sponsors, viz: E. C. Eppley, proprietor of The Normal; William H. Moore, sales manager of the Graham-Burnstein; J. C. Butcher, of the Burroughs Adding Machine; Ed M. Gooding, the then shoe king; George R. Carter, the mercantile magnate; M. Hoffleit, the haberdasher; and W. L. Russell, the oil prince.

This coterie of seven met at luncheon at the Normal one Tuesday and there was present a Rotarian from Detroit who suggested Lima should have a club. Immediate plans were laid, with the result that on the following day the seven invited H. G. Wenner, Harry O. Bentley and L. S. Galvin to meet with them, the three guests not knowing what was up. In the lobby, Charles W. Worst, former superintendent of the Locomotive Works but at one time conducting the Majestic garage, and Nelson Shook, the laundryman, were picked up and added to the list. Moore presided and Butcher was secretary. Pledge cards were signed and an organization effected with Moore president; Wenner, vice-president; Galvin, secretary-treasurer; Worst, sergeant-at-arms. Moore served from January to June when Wenner was named. At the end of the first year, Wenner was unanimously re-elected and served thru a second administration. He was followed by E. R. Curtin, president of the Lima Trust company, who gave way to the peerless Harry O. Bentley and Major John H. Blattenberg, following Bentley, will pass over the gavel Monday to his successor, Ralph W. Austin, of the younger generation.

NEW LIST OF OFFICERS

President-elect Austin will have an entire new personnel except for his secretary. Fred C. Becker, probate judge, becomes first vice president, and the popular Low A. Larson, of the Loco Works, second vice. Homer Hughes, the Tiffany of Lima, assumes the onerous and trying duties of sergeant-at-arms, which office has been handled by such premier artists as Worst, Peter Hulsken, Fred Gooding, Nels Shook, Jim Mooney and Alan Brady.

President Austin is a product of the Gridiron Club, the subsidiary coaching organization of Rotary, Above are shown the new officers of the Lima Rotary club. R. W. Austin will take the presidency at tomorrow's meeting; Judge F. C. Becker will become first vice president; H. R. Hughes will become Sergeant-at-Arms and L. S. Galvin will retain his post of secretary-treasurer.

which holds bi-monthly meetings for bashful and ambitious members of Rotary. When they leave Gridiron they are post-graduates in the art of speaking on their feet. Austin has become an adept as a presiding officer and Hughes, also of the Gridiron, is also well acquainted with his duties before assuming them in the parent club.

THE ROTARY MOTTO

The motto of Rotary is unique. "He profits most who serves best." The motto is literally lived by the membership. A Rotarian always gives, never receives, but the bread cast upon the waters more often returns in volume. Rotary has no politics; it embraces ministers and former brewers. It has mechanics and executives lunching at the same table. It has no selfish motive and no ambition other than service to the community.

At the present time Lima Rotary employs and pays the salary of a professional Scout Master and has become father to the Boy Scout movement of the city. For three successive years, Rotary financed the War Gardens at heavy expense. Now it is going out to save the crippled children of Allen-co, and when this movement with Sam Wainfield, chairman of the Good Fellowship committee, has been perfected, not a crippled child in Allen-co will be left to suffer. They will be given the best medical and hospital attention, if it takes weeks or months. Just service to humanity backed by the money of Rotary membership in from dollar to thousand-dollar contributions.

NOT RICH MAN'S CLUB

Rotary is not a rich man's organization, and members unable to contribute to movements are not expected to do so, and not embarrassed by solicitation. It is up to them and the President insists that only such sums be given as not only the heart, but the purse, permits. "Don't rob your wife or children to be a good fellow and make a show," said one President in announcing a donation. "If you can't afford to give, or if you owe your grocer, butcher or candlestick maker, pay them first; be just before you are generous."

The new president of Rotary is an all-American with pep and preparation. Highly educated, both in the classics and mechanics, he has given much time to amateur theatricals and is conversant with public technique. He is one of the early members of the club, having secured his classification when an official of the old Delphos Bottling company, later coming to Lima where his professional classification was accepted.

New committees will be announced by President Austin at the Monday meeting. Directors of the club to be installed include: Edward Gordon, Edward Taylor, Roy Ranta, Roy Dunn and George Metheny.

TROOP B PLANS EXHIBITION AT DRIVING PARK, JULY 18

Genuine bucking broncos, roping contests and Roman races will be features of a Cheyenne rodeo to be staged by troop E, first Ohio cavalry, at the Lima Driving Park, Sunday, July 18, for the benefit of the troop fund. Lieutenant Kenneth Kerr announced Saturday.

Kerr said 60 members of the troop and 35 horses are undergoing special training which will enable them to make the event a real wild west exhibition. A number of steers have been procured to be used in the roping contests.

WHEAT HARVEST IN PROGRESS

Allen-co Crop Promises Better Than Was Expected.

Allen-co wheat crop is now being harvested.

Beginning Saturday, farmers entered the wheat-fields to bring in the ripened grain. The rains and warm weather caused the wheat to ripen quickly within the past 10 days.

Despite the general belief and fear the crop would be no more than half a yield, farmers believe that from 70 to 80 percent yield will be realized. The golden grain is stacked, preparatory to threshing later on. Farmers will be busy in harvesting the wheat crop for the next week.

The hay crop is showing up well, the recent rains having put the finishing touches on the product in the fields. Clover bids fair to be of better yield than timothy.

Corn is growing, despite the rainy weather and the cool nights. Garden and fields present a happy sight in the days of green. Hot weather would push farm products along until the backwardness of the season would hardly be realized, should it come at once.

Farmers are taking heart and realize the outcome yet is not as bad as predicted early in May.

REPUBLICANS TO ORGANIZE Allen-co Republicans will meet next Friday evening at headquarters to organize a Harding club. Attorney James W. Halfhill will deliver the address.

NOISE FAILS TO GET VOTES

Frisco Convention Unshaken by Big Demonstrations.

IS REAL DEMOCRATIC MEET

Bryan's Opposition Delayed Selection of Gov. Cox.

(By J. W. FISHER)

SAN FRANCISCO—A deadlock of convention isn't a thing of beauty, either is it a joy forever. But it is a condition that becomes a fact sometimes, graduating from the theoretical stage. The Cox-McAdoo-Palmer deadlock was a natural result of conditions that developed in the big convention.

James M. Cox, Governor of Ohio, entered the contest with probably a sufficient number of votes to put him across, until Bryan of Nebraska became over-busy with his little axe, eliminating from his list of eligibles not only Cox, but every candidate who did not bow down and worship at the shrine of Bryan's hobby—dry radicalism. There is no question but that Bryan's animosity to Cox held out of the list many votes that would otherwise have gone to the Ohioan on the early ballots, but the frantic appeals of the Nebraskan could not stop the Cox tide from rising. Friend and foe of the 18th amendment agree that it is the law of the land; that as an issue the liquor question is dead.

The feeling of certainty among the McAdoo boomers that the "drafted" candidate would sweep the convention off its feet about the sixth ballot, was doomed to be unrealized. The Cox tide continued to rise, while the McAdoo and Palmer stock dropped, the smaller fry having been eliminated earlier. While the Ohio Governor was slowly but surely coming up to the front, a newspaper man from down state in California said: "There is no chance for Cox; he will be eliminated with the other small fry." And while the point was being debated by this champion of the Ohioan, the next ballot was announced, showing Cox out in the lead over all other contenders. As he climbed higher and higher and looked a certain winner, the same newspaperman who had relieved himself of the "small fry" stuff, was seen and heard in a position back of the press stand. He was whooping it up for Cox and expressed himself in this fashion: "That man Cox is sure going some. He's the biggest man in the bunch. He ought to win. He's going to win." So much for shifting human nature.

Your correspondent attended every session of the convention and in the light of what has occurred, the conviction forces itself that this was really and truly a Democratic convention, the delegates submitting only to being moved in the ballot choice by conference among themselves and there has been no hint whatever of anyone attempting to influence votes by the use of money. The tide of battle surged back and forth Saturday and Monday, the fortunes of the candidates varying, but always the big three—Cox, McAdoo and Palmer—standing out in the lead over all others, who received scattering votes. It will be recalled that the nomination of President Wilson in the Baltimore convention seven years ago was brought about on the 40th ballot.

McAdoo, Cox and Palmer. That prediction was justified, for while at the start Palmer was in the lead over Cox, the Ohioan overtook and passed Palmer on the 7th ballot and then passed McAdoo on the 12th, retaining first place until the 30th ballot, when he fell slightly behind McAdoo. The result of the balloting indicated that it was the desire of "neutral" delegation to give each of the three candidates an opportunity to develop strength. Tennessee, Virginia and Indiana, notably changed their "affections" for the purpose of carrying out this idea. In the end the "Big Three" were the top notches and each going strong when the convention adjourned late Monday afternoon for a breathing spell.

The popular belief that the staging of spectacular demonstrations in behalf of candidates in conventions at what is termed the "psychological moment" is an aid to attaining a desired result, was given a rude shock in the Democratic national convention.

Evidence amply was afforded that such demonstrations do not always work out as intended or desired. The most striking proof of this fact was witnessed after McAdoo had been given a total of 295 1-2 votes on the 21st ballot, probably the most riotous demonstration that had been staged for any candidate, occurred.

When, on the 7th ballot, New York swung 68 votes to Cox, some thing near a spontaneous demonstration was cited and for a time it appeared the convention would be stampeded by the Ohioan. The chairman of the Ohio delegation, after New York had swung into line, announced: "Ohio casts 48 votes for the next President of the United States."

After the result of the 12th ballot had been announced, and Governor Cox had jumped from 332 to 404 votes, Iowa swinging in with 26 votes, and the other states increasing their offering, bringing the Ohioan out in the lead of the field of three top notch candidates, one of the biggest demonstrations of the day developed. The crowd, generous and hoisting for a winner, took up the cry for Cox and the scene of animation grew to great proportions.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, proved himself an exceptionally splendid permanent chairman. For the most part of the way he attained fairly good results in maintaining order by the use of kind methods, but there were times when the chairman could not be blamed for being near to the point of losing his temper. Despite the most urgent appeals to refrain from doing so, the delegates persisted in milling about in the aisles on the floor, talking and laughing and holding heated confabs and obstructing the view and interfering with the hearing of those back of them. Threatening to debar from voting the delegates who violated the rules of order, the chairman succeeded in getting the situation well in hand, but threats to clear the galleries if the hub-bub did not cease, did not bring the desired results. Sergeants at arms and policemen were kept busy trying to maintain order.

Delegates and visitors to the San Francisco convention were deeply appreciative of the wonderful efforts made by the people of this city to afford entertainment of an exceptional character, but there has been one feature of the show that has not appealed and one that the residents here regret exceedingly. Certain newspapers in San Francisco have said and done about everything possible for them to say and do to be little the convention and the men prominent in it. While Governor Cox was making steady gains in the balloting Friday night and Saturday, the newspapers made scant mention of the fact and in special articles continued featuring candidates who were hopelessly out of it. Some of the stuff published here as convention news evidences the fact that the newspapers have a peculiar idea of news or that there is needed a violent shaking up in certain editorial departments, worse than the earthquake administered to the city in 1906.

WHEAT FORECAST SHOWS GAIN

Crop Will Total 809,000,000 Bushels, Estimate

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — The 1920 wheat crop will total 809,000,000 bushels, the department of agriculture estimated Friday, basing its forecast on conditions prevailing July 1.

The estimate based on conditions on June 1, was for a crop of 781,000,000 bushels, showing that during June wheat prospects increased 28,000,000 bushels.

The estimated production of spring wheat on July 1, was 291,000,000 bushels as compared with 277,000,000 bushels on June 1.

Winter wheat production was estimated at 518,000,000 bushels, on July 1, as compared with 504,000,000 bushels on June 1, as compared with 504,000,000 bushels on June 1.

The condition of all wheat on July 1, was 82.5 percent as compared with 86.6 percent the same month last year.

BUCKETS MAY SUPPLANT TRUSTY MILK BOTTLES

KENOSHA, Wis. — Another shortage. Now it's milk bottles. If customers of Kenosha dairy companies are not more particular in returning their bottles to the milk men, they will soon be compelled to buy their milk in the bulk, going to the door for it with a pitcher as they did when father was a boy, according to Harry Bruner, local dairyman.

He declared that the milk bottle shortage here is very acute, due to the failure of bottle manufacturers to secure potash, used in the manufacture of glass. Strikes of glass workers, also have had a great deal to do with the shortage, he said.

SAINT IN MIDST OF WORLD OF SINNERS

ATLANTA, Ga. — The world may be growing better, but "Uncle Jimmy" Hutchins, after 73 years of happy life, arises to question. "What is the world coming to?" he queried, commenting on a petition for divorce filed here within two days of the plaintiff's wedding. "I admit it is better in everything but the habits of the people. They are living at an awful pace."

"Uncle Jimmy," whose full name is James W. Hutchins, then revealed a record of sobriety believed without parallel:

In his 73 years of living he has declared:

Never been in a theater.

Never been in a movie.

Never used tobacco.

Never been intoxicated—and never will be.

Never tasted popular soft drinks.

Has abstained from coffee the last 16 years.

Went to one baseball game 50 years ago, he declared.

"Uncle Jimmy," has lived with his second wife 44 years, has six children and been a church member more than half a century.

GREAT WORK OF MERCY BEING DONE AT ST. RITA'S, LIMA HOSPITAL

Most Modern Institution Between Chicago and Pittsburg. It is Declared

SUPPORTED BY THE PUBLIC

Building Has All Modern Equipment and Best Medical Talent to Be Secured.

(By M. E. MULLEN)

LIMA has within her bounds an institution of love and mercy the scope of work of which none can comprehend until brought face to face with its great benefits. It is St. Rita's hospital, Irish and Baster-st., in charge of the Sisters of Mercy, with Mother Margaret Mary at the head. It was built to popular subscription.

"Lima Leads" in the way of hospital facilities was never more exemplified than in St. Rita's hospital. St. Rita's has been declared the best institution of its kind between Chicago and Pittsburg by skilled surgeons and learned doctors, who have investigated its facilities. Toledo has none better and Chicago but few larger and none better.

The hospital was organized with a staff of physicians last December, under the direction of the American College of Surgeons. This college seeks to have hospitals working under it to reach that perfection where only the best care, best surgeons and all that science can give the patient must be forthcoming. Such a hospital is St. Rita's.

"My desire is that it shall reach and always maintain that high standard of perfection with the American College of Surgeons that it shall be rated as A No. 1," Mother Margaret Mary said.

ALL ARE WELCOME

Protestants, Catholics and persons of no religion or any religion are welcome to the training school or to employment at the hospital. "It is ability we are seeking," Mother Margaret Mary said. "Our training school now has a class of young women, who will be graduated as nurses when they have completed the course. Three more came to us last Thursday. We still have plenty of room for other young women between the ages of 18 and 35 in our training school.

"The course is of three years' length and at the end of that time, the young woman is equipped with a profession which will bring her in a most desirable income the remainder of her life, or if she should marry, help her to better rear her own little ones," she said.

Mother Margaret Mary will be glad to consult with young women desiring to make the profession of nursing their life work, she said.

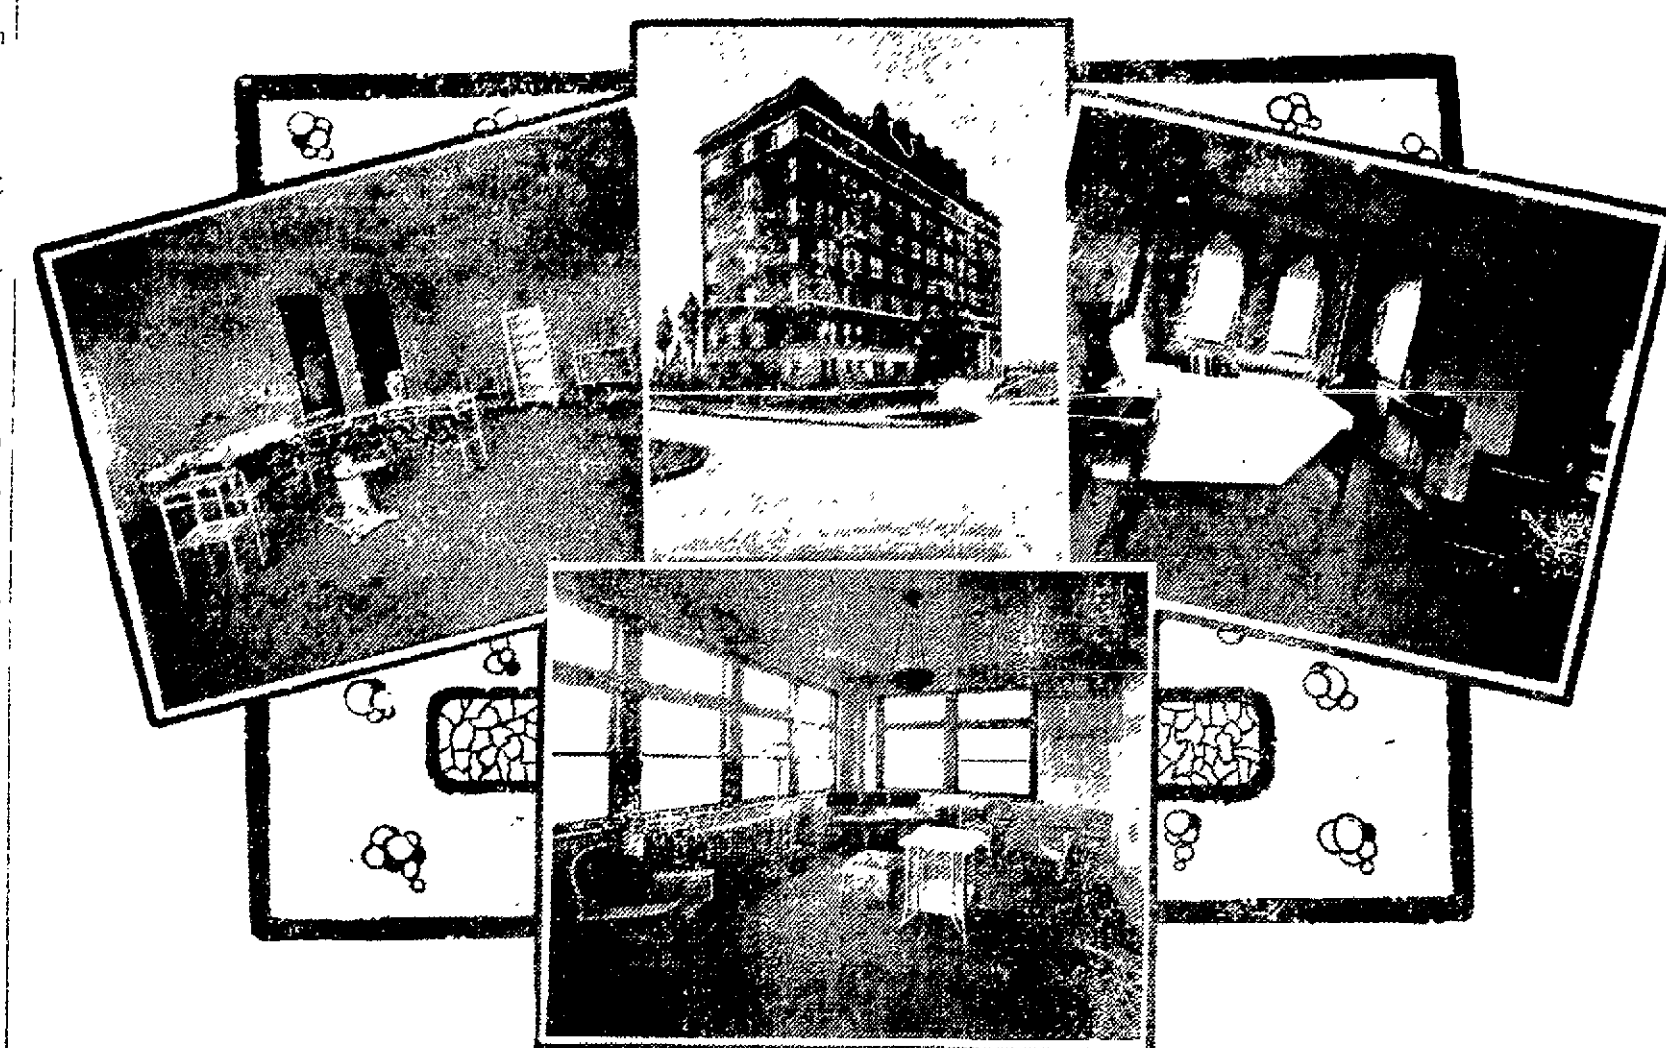

Only the finest surgeons are engaged. The surgical and operating departments are excelled by none in the country. The X-ray room is located in the basement, patterned exactly after the great institution at Bellevue, N. Y. All are equipped with every article known to science.

The hospital possesses many features unknown to the ordinary hospital in the small city. Among these are the infants' department, where the little ones are shut off from more mature persons and the maternity room, on the sixth floor, in which the entire north side is all of glass and which is equipped with the famous Feltz's maternity beds, which allow the mother to occupy the bed until the services of a surgeon are required, when the bed at once becomes an operating table.

The operating room is so constructed the patient has no view of the table, but is prepared under the anesthetic in a small, cheerful room and is fully under the influence of the drug before the room wherein is located the operating table, is reached.

DOORS ARE GERM-PROOF

Doors in the rooms swing flush and true and germs and air laden with germs of one patient can not escape into another room. Doors are of metal, floors of cork and beds of steel, with furniture to correspond. A sterilizer to protect both nurse and patient is one of the big features of the institution. It is of especial use in typhoid fever cases.

Five lights show at once when a nurse is needed in any room. One shows to the patient, one at his entrance door, one in the hall, one in the nurse's quarters and one in the superintendent's room. The superintendent can tell instantly when a nurse is needed and if not feeling a part of her duty.

In the sun parlor to the west on every floor, wicker furniture of a most inviting nature is placed. Here patients may enjoy the bright sunshine and out-of-doors, summer or winter, without exposure to air.

A panorama view of the city and of nature may be had by the patients from the large sun parlor on the roof of the building. Part of the roof to the east is left open so that they may enjoy the beautiful sunlight or the quiet, evening shades.

Patients are encouraged to forget their ill, aches and pains, and get well. The elevator is so constructed a patient may be removed on his sick bed to the roof garden without injury, even before he can sit up.

Private rooms are large and furnished to compare with the general scheme on that floor. Many are equipped with private bath. They cost no more than an inferior room in most hospitals.

The hospital management said it desires to correct the erroneous statement rooms at St. Rita's hospital now cost as high as $50. At one time this charge was made for a few rooms, but since have been reduced, and only a sufficient amount is charged to compare with the efficient and excellent service rendered. It is said.

ASSISTANCE IS NEEDED

The hospital is much in need of generous-hearted persons, who will endow a number of rooms, paying for their equipment and being accorded the honor of having donated the furnishings. Names of a large number of Lima's prominent citizens appear upon the door-plates of the endowed rooms.

It has been suggested by well-wishers of St. Rita's hospital that when he takes, whereby the city would be divided into two zones. Accidents happening in the one zone would be taken to St. Rita's for care and those in the other to the City hospital.

Compensation which the city pays for hospital purposes might be divided between the two hospitals, those interested believe.

According to Mother Margaret Mary, the hospital has no means of securing money save from patients themselves, who are brought there. While many persons have the idea the hospital is supported by the Catholic church, this is not the case, she says, altho in charge of the Sisters.

It is not only for those who can pay, but for the weary traveler, the tramp, the derelict or any case that mercy can minister to.

No one is turned away, but the kind hand of help and mercy is thrown out to all. It is a great boon to suffering humanity and an institution that demands the greatest appreciation all over the territory about Lima.

The hospital, while not completed, was thrown open in 1918 when the epidemic of influenza swept the city. Hundreds were cared for there. The other hospital facilities for treating the disease here were inadequate and the epidemic would have spread greater toll it is believed had it not been for St. Rita's. Last winter the hospital served the same purpose when the epidemic of influenza was raging.

MANY AID HOSPITAL

After having learned of its wonderful features and great work many persons are desirous of adding another contribution to assist this great humanitarian institution. Supplies of all kinds are always welcome from any society organization.

St. Rita's guild, composed of Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Unitarian women, has been the means of doing much for the hospital in the way of sewing and providing supplies. They hold regular meetings and give benefit entertainments, all for the purpose of aiding the hospital to become the great factor for the sick of the community.

The two residences lying just south of the hospital on Foster street, occupying the lots on which the new hospital is located, are joined together and used as a nurses' home.

LIMA DISTRICT NEWS IN BRIEF

ST. MARYS.—One dollar and costs were assessed and $21.00 returned on a fine of $25.00 imposed by Mayor G. M. Raudabaugh against Rigma McCabe on a charge of showing moving pictures on Sunday. A clause of the Ohio labor law was utilized by the local ministerial association in filing the affidavit. A previous affidavit to which McCabe plead not guilty, has been transferred to common pleas court. The former charge will be withdrawn on condition that Sunday shows are stopped.

ST. MARYS.—Born in slavery and a member of the Federal army during the Civil war, Eli Hall, 88, colored man, was found dead in his bed when a friend came to call. General debility is the cause given. The sum of $150.00 was found in his clothes. A sister lives in Cincinnati. A long-time search for a daughter believed to be in California proved unsuccessful.

KENTON.—Miss Lucy E. Church and Miss Elsie Baldwin, of Kenton, will manage a new 75-bed hospital being erected in Marion.

ST. MARYS.—A breakwater is to be built, probably this season, to protect Lake St. Mary's' east bank landing. Exposed to the full impact of wind and waves, recently-dredged boat channels have entirely filled up with mud and sand. Abseaway, has been long needed, authorities say, to justify satisfaction of the large fishing and pleasure fleet.

VAN WERT.—A personal account of the Democratic convention and the event. Leading up to the nomination of James M. Cox, will be given at a general Democratic meeting Tuesday evening July 14, when H. L. Conn, a district delegate will speak. Other party matters will be discussed at this meeting, when Dr. J. W. Wilson will preside.

KENTON.—Two cases, seeking $10,000 damages for alleged slander, have been filed in common pleas court by Harry G. Miller, Miller's son, Daisy and James Eckelroad called him a "liar and a thief."

KENTON.—The annual convention of the Ohio Protective Association will be held here, Oct. 26-28. The Kenton Live Stock Protective Association is making elaborate preparations for entertaining the more than 300 delegates from the 56 Ohio branches, who are expected to come here to the convention. The degree work will be put on by the Mt. Victory team.

KENTON.—When he stepped on a live wire in a pasture field while going to milk his cow, Steve Smith, letter carrier, was badly burned but not seriously injured.

KENTON.—Rev. H. T. O. Blue, Kenton, has been appointed editor of the Christian Reveille, a paper published by the church of Christ here.

KENTON.—Hail as large as robin's eggs shattered hundreds of acres of growing corn last night and did thousands of dollars damage.

KENTON.—Died: Henry Yost, 48; Mrs. Rebecca Warner, 83.

KENTON.—A plan for centralizing adjacent school land in Hardin and Auglaize cos is under way by the county superintendents of the three counties. If the plan is adopted a new school building will likely be erected at West Newton, O.

KENTON.—Its coal supply exhausted, the electric light plant in the village of Belle Center has shut down, and the town is in darkness.

ADA.—While adjusting a screen on a second story window Dr. A. N. Wisely slipped and fell to the ground. No bones were broken but he was painfully injured about the shoulder.

ADA.—Record equal to those being made by members of the other companies, are being rolled up by several Company G, second Ohio, marksmen at the state rifle meet in Camp Perry. Sgt. Scott McCafferty and William Hines are among the ten highest men.

ADA.—Miss Elsie Sheller and Cyrus Samuels were married recently.

JAPAN MAKES STUDY OF MEXICAN FARMING

MEXICO CITY.—A special commissioner from Japan is now in this country investigating exclusively the methods of cultivating and handling sugar cane, henequen, cotton and all fibre plants produced in the republic with a view to their introduction to Japan. According to Mexican officials, this is in keeping with the announced policy of the Japanese Government to secure all possible information regarding the industries and products of Mexico in whatever line. After leaving here the commissioner will visit South American countries on a similar mission.

HOUSE DEMAND IS STILL GREAT

Little Construction Because of Labor Cost Relators Say

Lima real estate men declare exorbitant demands made by carpenters' unions for labor to be responsible for the continued strained condition of the housing situation in Lima.

While rents are dropping in a number of cities, including Chicago, the situation remains unchanged here, records of real estate dealers show.

"Not less than a hundred houses would have been completed in Lima this year," said Fred B. Williams, of the real estate department of the Elmer D. Webb company. "If it had not been for the carpenters' demands, they asked from $6.25 to $8.75 per day, making it impossible to do extensive building in the city," he continued.

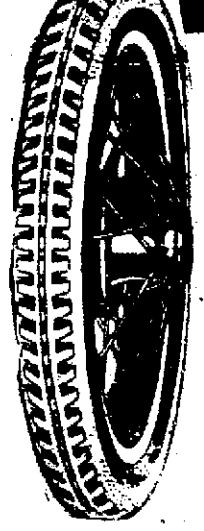

Williams said the Webb company never has a surplus of houses for rent at any price. "The state is clear at all times," he continued. The majority of other real estate dealers interviewed reported similar conditions. Some of them said they had a few houses for rent, but they were in inconvenient and undesirable localities.

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce said the question of providing a remedy for the house shortage in Lima was abandoned at the time of the carpenters' strike here and has never been taken up since. It is understood it will not be taken up again this year.

BEAU BRUMMEL would have cried "Failure!" at Abraham Lincoln; but the world smiles at the fop and kneels to the Liberator.

Most of us desire something better from life than to be known as leaders of fashion, though we may not attain to the leadership of a people.

If here at the Peerless factory we can continue to build the best motor cars we are capable of, we shall feel true satisfaction in having followed the urge of Emerson:

"To do with might and main what you can do."

Let others have the honors of Beau Brummel, while we bend our energies to principles of construction and their application.

Our work is the Peerless Two-power-range Eight—a solid, serviceable car, with a true heart and a generous and enduring spirit. We are content to stand or fall by the measure of this accomplishment.

Five years have passed since the first Two-power-range Eight was built. The Peerless of 1920 is in all essentials the same kind of car—a tested and proved car, faithful to a creed of moderation in everything but endurance.

DON BAXTER STILL TOUTED TO GIVE MASON A SURPRISE

Lima Lad in Pink of Condition for Bout With Champ

KID DAYTON AFTER GRIND

Wants to Meet Winner of Monday Night Headliner

BY JOE BERNSTEIN

THE American Legion's big boxing program for Monday night is attracting no little attention in these parts of the sporting world.

The headliner bout, between Frankie Mason, flyweight champion, is probably responsible for the attention the card is drawing, but justly so. Mason, who has been scrapping quite a bit in the past week or so, has been unable to score decisively against the opposition that has been presented him and Lima fans are therefore hoping that the boxer boy will be able to hand him the sleeping potion.

Baxter is touted by his boosters in this city as being able to do it. In fact, Lima ring fans are all going to Memorial hall Monday night expecting the local boy to slip a decisive victory over on the title holder.

The lad has been going good in his workouts and just Saturday night, ended his training period, that he might rest up today and Monday preparatory to meeting the Ft. Wayne champ.

Kid Dayton, the scrapper from the Gem City who won the applause of Lima ring fans when he fought Kid St. Elmo, of this city, some time ago, has been watching Baxter and seems to think that Don will at least win a popular decision over Mason. Dayton has issued a challenge to the winner of the Mason-Baxter fight for any time in the future that he is convenient.

Dayton, according to Billie Gallant, matchmaker for the Lima Post American Legion may come to Lima in the near future to establish his headquarters here. The reception that he was accorded by Lima fans after his scrap with St. Elmo, left a lasting impression on his mind, and he is being reported as having declared that he likes Lima and Lima fans.

Baxter and Dayton would make a good match for the next card to be presented by the Legion, providing the Lima lad makes the expected showing in his bout Monday night. The two lads are in the same class, both weighing around 116 pounds. If there could be any difference, it could easily be remedied by a short training period.

But Baxter must first dispose of Mason in a creditable manner, or Kid Dayton will pass him up for a bout with the champ. Tickets for the Mason-Baxter bout Monday night have been going fast, according to Matchmaker Gallant. A lot of good fans are liable to be frozen out of some good seats unless they get their pastboards in a hurry, he declares.

KID Henson, the 145 pound scrapper claiming 'Lima as his home, has been working out with Don Baxter, and from the looks of his easy going training with the lighter boxer, will be able to hand Fred Gandert of Mansfield, with whom he has been matched, the battle of his life.

How the heavier medicine ball with ease, allowing his seconds to throw it at him with all their might. That means that the hundred forty-five pounder will be able to take a lot of blows without damaging himself much. His bout with Gandert will go eight rounds.

The preliminary should be a fast

SINGLE G WINS FINAL EVENT AT RANDALL

CLEVELAND—The Grand Circuit races at Randall came to a close Saturday afternoon, with Single G stepping the fastest mile of the year in the free-for-all and winning the event.

With Driver Alton at the reins, the horse made the mile in 2:01.4. The second heat was taken by Single G, in 2:02.

Grace Direct played as the favorite as the horses went to the barrier, took second money.

The 2:06 pace was won by Royal Earl, with Esau driving. Murphy took the first heat, with Esther II. Time 2:04. The second heat was won by Gold Quartz in 2:06. Royal Earl, second and third respectively in the first and second heats, won the third in 2:08 1-4 and the fourth in 2:08 3-4.

Peter L, driven by Edman, won the 2-10 trotting event, winning the first heat in 2:09 3-4 and the third in 2:09 1-4.

scrap with Tommy Tige of Ft. Wayne and Eddie Davidson of Ashland as the principles. The two lads will weigh in at 114 pounds just light enough to be able to step around the ring in a hurry. Both have reputations for being game. They will go six rounds.

Kid Spots, the comical lad who is matched with Kid Black for the current raiser is already claiming that his name is a misnomer. But Kid Black has a comeback in the semi-final, claims to have begun his boxing career earlier in his life than any other boxer in the game that he knows of.

John L. Sullivan, the grand old man of the ring used to live with Henson's people in Cleveland, and that is where the Lima boy learned the game.

"Sullivan taught me how to use the gloves when I was just a youngster," Henson says. "He used to have me box with his sister every evening after supper. Once he put us on exhibition in Cleveland as the opening of a card he was promoting, in 1938.

"My sister was 12 years old at the time and I was eight. It was some little scrap, too. I've been in the game ever since."

Henson's sister is Clara Henson, who played with the Boston Bloomer girls' baseball team. She was short stop for the famous feminine outfit.

League Baseball Becomes Talk Among Fans

HOPE TO GET FRANCHISE

Shawnee Country Club Building New Course

FRANKIE Mason is scheduled to arrive in Lima sometime today.

Word went to the Legion's matchmaker is to the effect that he is none the worse off because of his heavy schedule during the past few weeks.

Mason cannot lose his little Monday night, no matter what the outcome of the scrap will be. Nevertheless, he will not allow himself to be definitely beaten by the Lima boy, for it would do his record no good to have a youngster like Baxter give him the run.

Mason is going to put everything he has into the fight Monday night, because he cannot afford to take any chances. He's been hanging on to what little weight over the flyweight limit that he has, for as it is, he will have to meet the Lima boy giving him about three or four pounds.

THERE has been some talk in the city during the past week or so, of trying to land a franchise for Lima in some minor league.

The interest that Eddie Halloran has in local baseball has unquestionably tended toward that direction. Every day ball in Lima might not necessarily draw big crowds during the week, but the old heads figure that Saturday and Sunday business would make a league club here a big success.

Then again, the old draft law that had a lot to do with killing off the minor leagues, isn't in effect any more. Today, a minor league club has some good players and develops them out usually and then a berth with a major league outfit at a price that means life, liberty and happiness for the said minor league.

It would be impossible to bring a league club here until next year, of course, but nevertheless, those things must be planned far ahead of time.

It sounds like the old chatter of a year or two ago, but this time, there seems to be enough of an undercurrent to create the required enthusiasm.

WORK on the new nine hole golf course at the Shawnee country club is progressing with encouraging rapidity, according to Jim Bell, professional expert of the club.

It is expected that the extension will be completed early next summer and will be able to be put into use shortly thereafter.

With the completion of the new course, the Shawnee country club will have one of the best 18 hole courses in the state. The first hole, which forms at present, the nine hole course, to the north of the grounds, is characterized by rolling grounds that make it quite difficult to play.

This with the new nine holes will form one of the most hazardous courses that golf enthusiasts could ask. The new nine holes will offer two water hazards and will give the Shawnee golfers an opportunity to develop a finer brand of play.

The new course is being laid out on the west end of the clubhouse. It crosses the Ottawa river twice. The addition will make the green of regulation size and will give the Shawnee directors an opportunity to bid for state tournaments after a year or two.

BIDS POUR IN FOR CHAMP'S BOUT

NEW YORK—Bids for the proposed Dempsey-Brennan fight continued to pour in to Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, Saturday.

The best offer was $100,000 from a St. Paul promoter, who wants the champion and the Chicago heavyweight to fight there Labor Day.

Other offers ranging from $50,000 to $75,000 were made from various cities for bouts between the champion and Brennan, Miske, Fulton, or Levensky.

After being turned cold by Carpenter and his manager, when he asked them to make good their promise to sign, Kearns said he could not wait a year to fight the Frenchman and would proceed to give all the American contenders a chance in any order the promoters desired.

Kearns also went on record as being willing to abolish the color line in boxing. "Dempsey has never drawn the color line. We have never been asked to do that," he said. "No promoter has ever made us an offer for a colored fighter. If the public wants it, Dempsey will bar no one."

GUN CLUB WILL REORGANIZE

Members of the Shawnee rifle club will meet Tuesday night in the indoor range in the basement of the Holland block to plan a reorganization of the club.

The meeting Tuesday night is open to all interested in shooting. The reorganization is being undertaken in order to stimulate more interest in shooting.

A number of handicap shoots and competitive events will be planned at the same time.

MORE CARS NEED OF COAL TRADE

Official Asserts Shipping Shortage Keeps Prices Up.

WASHINGTON—Admiral [unclear] said today that the coal shortage is the main reason for the high prices of coal.

At least 745,000,000 tons of coal will be required for the current year ending March 31, the [unclear] stated, pointing out that much of this will be needed to make up a shortage of 15,000,000 tons that ordinarily would have been in reserve last April. Since that time shipments from the mines have been 1,241,000 tons a week below the requirements, making a total shortage of between 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 tons, he declared.

An average weekly production of 12,000,000 tons should be maintained until December 1, Mr. Morrow said, if the country is to have the aggregate production needed to make up the deficit and carry it thru the winter. At present the weekly production is approximately 10,400,000 tons, he stated.

The witness denied that a great volume of export coal business has produced a shortage in this country.

BANDITS GET $10,000 OLD GOLD AND SILVER IN DARING ROBBERY
CLEVELAND—Police were still at sea Saturday in the daring robbery of Isaac Miller, 55, dealer in old gold and silver, whose safe was emptied by three bandits late Friday. The loss was placed at $10,000. Miller was tied in a chair and beaten over the head while a woman assistant was locked in a side room. Miller's office is located on an upper floor in a downtown arcade. After the thieves looted the safe and took Miller's diamond rings and cash, they strolled to the street and mingled with the shopping crowds.

DESTROYER LAWRENCE, FOURTH OF SAME NAME, LAUNCHED SATURDAY
CAMDEN, N. J. — The destroyer Lawrence, the fourth named after Captain James Lawrence, of the war of 1812 fame, was launched Saturday at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation. It will take the place of the destroyer Lawrence which was recently sold for junk. It is named by the navy department. Miss Ruth Lawrence, grand niece of the late Captain Lawrence, was the sponsor.

THEIR smiles reveal a friendly feeling, born of freedom from battery worry. These carefree members of the Prest-O-Lite clan don't bother their heads about their battery's "insides". We shoulder all their battery care. They come here regularly for free testing and distilled water. They save time and money on repairs and recharging.

Greater capacity and reserve power, surer starts, brighter lights—these are some of the advantages they enjoy.

To join the Prest-O-Lite clan, you don't have to own a Cole, a Cleveland, a Templar—or any other well-known car equipped at the factory with a Prest-O-Lite Storage Battery. We can and will lengthen the life of any make of battery.

And, when your present battery has run its course, remember there is a special type of Prest-O-Lite battery for every car made—whatever its year or model.

You will be delighted with its superior vim and power—its absolute dependability for starting—the greater brilliancy of your headlights—the steady, even flow of electrical energy to your distributor.

Drive up now—today. Let's get acquainted anyhow.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Garden Farmer will find the Ford Model T One Truck an especially valuable factor in his business because of the flexibility as well as the reliability of the service which can always be depended upon to be given by this splendid truck. The worm-drive of manganese bronze carries all the power of the motor to driving the truck and there are combined in larger and heavier form all the elements which have made the Ford Model T Car the greatest motor car in the world in point of service. The Ford Truck with its worm-drive is most economical in operation and maintenance. There is very little, if anything, to get out of order at any time; there is the simplicity in control; there is the convenience in the flexibility of the car, it will turn in a circle of forty-eight feet; it accommodates itself to narrow alleys, and it "stands the gaff" of hard work day after day, and month after month, to the great satisfaction of the owner. There is hardly a line of business activity where the Ford One Ton Truck is not really a necessity. On the farm, or in the factory, with the railroad, it is solving the economic delivery of merchandise and produce better than any other truck we know of.

CHAUTAUQUA WILL OPEN TODAY

First Number Presented at 2:30 This Afternoon

The equipment for the Cort-Alber chautauqua arrived in Lima Friday evening and the tent was erected on the Oak Hall grounds Saturday, in anticipation for the opening number this afternoon. The junior chautauqua opened Saturday afternoon with a free meeting, and was attended by several hundred kiddies.

Felchli's Alpine Yodlers will give the concert this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This evening the Yodlers will give another concert, followed by an address by Father R. J. Watt, of Indiana, England, who will lecture on subject "Winning the Peace." One-act Sunday afternoon will be given at 2 until 2:20 for the season ticket holders, and from 2:20 until 2:30 o'clock for the general public. The evening program commences at 8 o'clock.

Season tickets can be obtained from guarantors or at the office of L. E. Ludwig, Opera House block.

Geraldine Edgar, violinist, and Robert MacDonald, pianist, appear on the Chautauqua program with Miss Jessie Christian, soprano of the Chicago Opera Co.

Miss Jessie Christian, one of America's coming opera stars, is appearing this summer in concert work on the Chautauqua program.

Mr. MacDonald, who has been in Chautauqua and Lyceum work for some time, is a fit accompanist for an artist of the quality of Miss Christian. Miss Edgar has a charm and personality of her own that aids her talents as a violinist.

Miss Christian's name is linked with those of Melba and Galli-Curci, for her appearance with the Chicago Opera Co. and her success is suddenly filling Lima. Galli-Curci's place in "The Hugenots" in 1917 at once brought her to the front as one of America's greatest sopranos.

The chautauqua opens today.

DIAMONDS

Diamonds have become so valuable that even the slightest variations in quality make quite a difference in their worth. Considering this fact it is a matter of wisdom and good judgment to select your dealer right.

HOW TO JUDGE

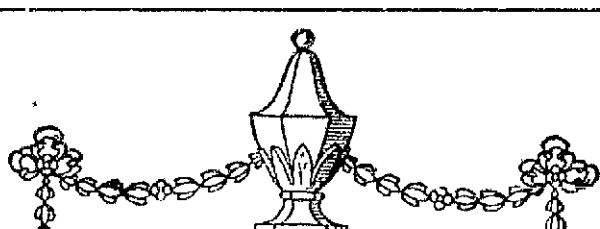

Color, shape, cutting and weight all have an important bearing on the value of diamonds. Carbon spots or feathers, if invisible to the naked eye, do not affect their brilliancy greatly. If you wish to be advised correctly we will give you the benefit of our long experience in handling diamonds of first quality.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

THE week following the second of the national conventions brought a gradual swing upward to big business of the East, but this ascendancy caused a reaction at the weekend when money slipped easily from seven to ten per cent.

Locally we are in the midst of the dull season among our industries. Merchants, however, are rapidly converting into cash and deposits of mercantile funds at the banks have been heavy throughout the week. Drop in deposits from the industries, as an offset, has kept money tight and it is almost impossible to borrow current funds in any amount.

The trend of the country is still downward and since February first the drop on all materials and commodities has been 75 per cent. Wool is especially weak and leathers in poor demand. Food prices, contrariwise, hold universally high.

Lima continues to look inviting. Many individuals are drifting here and some larger concerns are knocking at the door pending the results of housing. At present prices, no housing plan is feasible and rentable properties remain at a premium.

In municipal affairs the committee named to draft a charter is rapidly completing its work and this document may be presented at the August primaries, but will surely be offered at the November election should delays occur. Municipal work is very backward and funds are lacking for anything more than the barest upkeep. Were not this true, Jameson-ave between Spring and Elm would long since have received a few bushels of crushed stone, for it is the main thoroughfare used to the residential districts and since the Metcalf-st bridge is out, is now being generally used for south bound travel.

Business in general looks better and more stable. The condition is still stalemated, but this very fact is resulting in men of business fortifying themselves with reserves, rather than branching out into new investments or expansion in their own commercial lines.

WAR WITH BACTERIA

SEVERAL years ago when a far-seeing expert predicted that a great part of the next war would be fought in the air, there were skeptics who said he was a fit candidate for a lunatic asylum. But the great World War proved the correctness of his statements for the fighting machines of the air served a great purpose and did their part in ending the conflict.

Now comes another expert, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, distinguished Rochester, Minn. specialist, who makes bold to predict that the next war will be fought with bacteria bombs. The world hopes there will never be another war to bathe the universe in blood and tears, but men insist upon discussing the probabilities of one. God willing, there will never be a "next war," but should it occur the prediction of Dr. Mayo, improbable as it may seem now, may become a reality as did the airplane in the last war.

Science will not be able to prevent war, but it will be able to make it so disastrous that nations will hesitate before stepping into inevitable annihilation. The prevention of war lies with humanity thru the changing of thinking and the giving up of hatred and bad feeling, jealousy and covetousness. There will be no "next war" if every race will take upon itself the duty of doing everything possible to eliminate the idea of conquest and aggression and instill in the hearts of its people a horror of the word, war.

SUPPORTING TWO HOSPITALS

LIMA has within its borders two hospitals, both supported by the public and both doing a most valuable service to the community at large. They are not for the city alone, but for all who come in need of treatment.

Contrary to the impression which has gone out, St. Rita's hospital is not maintained by the Catholic churches of the city. It was erected by the public and turned over to the Sisters of Mercy to be operated under their direction, but the support must come from the public.

The City hospital is always crowded and at times unable to take care of the large number of cases coming to its doors. There is no division of the patronage of the two institutions, both good and serving humanity in the best possible manner. The persons requiring the services of a hospital go to the one they choose.

St. Rita's being much larger, is able to care for more patients than the older hospital. Its capacity is not taxed and there has been a number of suggestions concerning the division of the city into zones in order that both may serve the public in a better manner. The idea of those persons with the welfare of both institutions at heart is that by designating a portion of the city to be cared for by one hospital and another portion to be served by the other, both would become more efficient by eliminating crowding and both would have sufficient revenue upon which to operate.

Some provisions should be made, whereby the maximum benefit could be derived from the two hospitals of the city, whether it be thru the zone system or some other. The rates or both are in proportion to the service given and when compared with other cities are moderate. The city and community has need of both and they should be supported in every way possible for the facilities are inadequate at the best in times of great need, such as was experienced here during the raging of the influenza epidemic.

RIPE OLIVES COMING BACK

UNCLE SAM is doing his share to restore the ripe olive to the market as a food. It almost completely disappeared some time ago when there were several fatalities in different parts of the country. Thousands of gallons of the fruit went into the discard because it was found that it had not been properly packed.

Now the government experts declare it is possible to sterilize the ripe olive after it has been placed in glass cans by heating to 240 degrees. This is sufficient to kill all bacteria lurking in the food and makes it absolutely safe.

The producers may have some difficulty in inducing the public to buy, for many do not forget, but with the stamp of approval of the government it is certain to come back for it is too good a food and too palatable to be eliminated forever.

PREVENTING DIVORCE

AN organization is being formed in the East to spread propaganda in favor of a constitutional amendment to make divorce impossible. It will take more than laws to keep some men and women together after love takes its flight and hatred replaces it.

MISS LIMA "The fact that love is stone-blind prevents Cupid's business from being in a bad slump right now."

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

This is an uncertain day. Love affairs have a good augury today, since the stars promise prosperity and lasting devotion.

Friendships entered into under this sign will be pleasant and beneficial.

It is a lucky rule for women whose activities will prosper while the stars are thus poised.

Again the stars warn of a season of intense heat when there will be forest fires and much disorder throughout the country.

Persons whose birthday this is will have a year filled with romance.

Children born today will have kindly natures and be extremely popular.

ancers, spicers, vaudeville artists and preachers.

Let us proceed in imagination to the operation of the idea. Let us imagine the saddest agony which pen or tongue can portray, say a 34 percent singing "Cielo e Mio" from La Gioconda. Nothing really could be worse, unless it were two tenors of the same percentage singing at the same time. Now, you will have no notion upon reaching your seat in the auditorium that each chair is supplied with a small, London ball and that the right arm of each chair reveals a small aperture just large enough for the insertion of the ball.

The tenor has been terrorizing for some time and has come to that part of the aria when the throat sometimes rebels and says, "Thou shalt not pass" to the oncoming "C." You feel that as a passive listener you have reached the limits of your patience. Here then is your remedy at hand in the shape of the little London ball. All you have to do is to unobtrusively drop it into the aperture which yawns at your elbow, and await results.

The result will all depend on whether you are alone in your misery or whether your neighbors are also longing for air and freedom. If the latter case be true, then you have but to wait patiently until enough little London balls have gone on their way when suddenly, by a mechanism which Lievine will leave to his mechanical collaborator, the flow of song will waver, diminish and then altogether cease, and quite by magic, as it were, the stage will be empty.

The London balls have with them combined weight spring a device whereby a trap door on which the quondam perpetrator of sound was standing has been lowered to the nether realms of the stage.

THE EXPERT POLO PLAYER TAKES UP GOLF

SUCH IS LIFE

NATURE, we are informed does things right, with never a mistake, doing what should be done, and leaving undone the things which ought not to be done. Nature is perfection, it is the last word in efficiency, excellence, accomplishment.

Is that so? It is nature, isn't it that piles ice high at the North Pole where it is cold enough already, and arranges it so you have none in your refrigerator where it is most needed?

It is nature, isn't it, that causes it to rain upon picnics in the city and not shed a drop on the field when the farmer is praying for a little shower?

It is nature, isn't it, that causes snow high on sidewalks where it isn't wanted, and barely covers the western plains where it would be fine for soil?

It is nature, isn't it that makes the guy who wants to be fat lean, and vice versa, or even worse than that?

It is nature, isn't it, that makes plants grow like fury when you call 'em weeds, and makes 'em fade away when you refer to them as vegetables?

It is nature, isn't it, that puts all the shade in the forests where it doesn't do you any good and turns the hot sun upon the road where you have to travel?

It is nature, isn't it, that sticks the brightest plumage on birds you seldom see and paints the sparrow a muddy brown?

It is nature, isn't it, that places thorns on the rose you wish to pluck, and doesn't put any warning on the poison ivy you don't wish to touch?

It is nature, isn't it that brings bad weather when you want to go some place, and furnishes the nicest sort of a day when you haven't anywhere to go?

HEALTH HINTS FOR TODAY

I have said much here of the moral instability, the weakness of character, the unreliability of the youth who uses tobacco. I have put it only too mildly. There is no getting around the fact that a normal boy is strong enough to refrain from such indulgences. Not is there any escape from the fact that the use of tobacco by immature youths works havoc physically, mentally and morally as every headstrong business man, every observing teacher, and every unbiased physician well knows. A youth is certainly immature that is he has not attained his full growth physically and mentally, until the age of twenty-one—that being the age at which he is supposed to know enough to vote. As a matter of fact most boys are not physically and mentally mature until the age of twenty-five. That is the age at which every young man should marry or be fixed by the state.

In dwelling upon the injurious effects of tobacco in youth I do not mean to imply that tobacco is not injurious after a man has attained maturity. For every physician knows how disastrous its effects often prove.

The action of tobacco as a drug is not clearly understood. There is enough nicotine in a pipeful of ordinary tobacco or a cigarette, or a cigar to quickly kill a large animal, hence it seems evident that little of this is absorbed by the man who uses tobacco.

It is up to every tobacco user to decide for himself—for the present—whether he shall be slave or master of the habit. Mind, I do not say that a temperate use of tobacco necessarily injures a grown man's health.

A smoker who smokes before noon is almost certainly an excessive user of tobacco and will almost certainly pay dearly for his indulgence by some breakdown involving heart, arteries or kidneys before many years. Most smokers who indulge in tobacco hours are on the toboggan, whether they themselves realize it just now or not. Of course the constant smoker is pretty far gone in any case.

YOUR NAME

VARIATIONS — Weber, Webber, Weaver.
RACIAL ORIGIN — English; also

Webster. An occupation.
Here is another family name which in one of its forms shows the influence of the medieval English method of forming the feminine from a masculine noun, but which is now obsolete. It is most interesting, too, as showing in certain of its variations an absolutely parallel development in English and German.
Weber and Weaver are exclusively English forms of the name. Weber and Weaver are both English and German, and apparently about as widespread in one language as the other.

All of these names, descriptive of the occupations of the first bearers of them, come from the same root in the old Teutonic tongue, which is parent both to modern German and to medieval English thru the Anglo-Saxon. It is the same root from which we derive the modern English word "weft" and "web" as well as weave. Indeed the church and court records of medieval England show that the people of those days spoke of "Roger is Weber" rather than the "Weaver". The softening of the "b" into an "f" or a "v" has occurred only in comparatively modern times in English, and not at all in German.

"Weber" is simply the medieval English feminine for "weber". Under Norman-French influence its ending often was spelled "stere" instead of "ster" and it is from this spelling, with the addition of a "s" that the modern feminine ending "ess" or "tress" has been developed.

JUDITH of BLUE LAKE RANCH

By JACKSON GREGORY

JUDITH TRIUMPHANT

As Bud Lee came thru the lilacs into the courtyard, he heard the tinkle of a distant piano and the tremolo of a violin, so faint as hardly to be distinguished above the plush and gurgling of the mountains. The courtyard bathed in soft light, seemed a corner of fairyland the music vanishing elfin strains of some mischievous troop putting sighs and love dreams into a sleeping maid's breast. The night was rich with stars, warm with summer, serene with the peace of the mountain. He was late. They were already dancing within.

He stood a moment, looking in at the outer edge of the flood of light which gushed thru the wide doors. Behind him Japanese lanterns hanging from a vine-covered trellis; before him flowers, bright chandeliers, girls' dresses like fluttering, many-colored, diaphanous butterfly wings. He had been saying to himself: "I must hurry if I want to dance with Marcia." And something stirring restlessly within him shoved aside the thought of Marcia and put in its stead the old wonder: "What sort of a Judith would he see to-night?"

He found it difficult to form any picture of her here, among these gay, inconsequent merry-makers. Judith to him spelled a girl upon a horse, booted, spurred, with a scarf about her neck fluttering wildly behind her as she rode the superb, splendid figure of a girl of the out-of-doors, alive with the hot pioneer blood which had been her rich inheritance, a sort of wonderful boy-girl. Remove her flapping hat, her boots and spurs and riding-suit, and what was left of Judith?

Outside were half a dozen of the boys who had not mustered courage to get foot on the polished floors. Carson and Tommy Burkitt, among them. Tommy stared at Bud Lee and his jaw dropped in amazement. Carson took swift stock of such clothes as he had never suspected a good horse foreman owned, and gasped faintly:

"The damn . . . lady-killer!"

But Lee had neither eyes nor thoughts for them, nor remembrance of his own change from working garb to that of polite society. The dance came to a lingering end, the couples thruout the big rooms strolled up and down, clapping their hands softly or vehemently as their natures or degree of enthusiasm dictated, and Lee forgot Marcia, and sought eagerly for a glimpse of Judith.

Refused a second encore, the couples stood about chatting, the hum of lively voice bespeaking easier enjoyment. There was no early chill about the assembly, to be dissipated as the dance wore on; the day of festivity outdoors had thawed the thin crust of icy strangeness which is so natural a part of such a function as this. Already it seemed that everybody was on the most cheerful terms with everybody else.

Suddenly Lee's eyes, still seeking Judith, found Marcia. Surrounded by a little knot of men, each of them plainly seeking to become her happy partner for the next dance, adorably helpless as usual, Miss Langworthy was allowing the men to fight it out among themselves. Lee moved a little nearer to see her better.

In a pale-blue gown, fluffy as a summer cloud, her cheeks delicately flushed, a white rose like a snow drop in the gold of her hair, she was fluttering happy, reminding him of those little meadow blues that had flown palpitatingly about him that day in the fields. And she was obviously as much at her ease here, in an atmosphere of music and flattery, as the tiny butterflies in their own meadows.

Bud Lee came in, his tall form conspicuous, and went straight to Marcia. She saw him immediately, forgot herself to stare almost as Carson had done, smiled at him brightly, waved her fan to him.

He took her hand and told with his eyes how pretty she was. The delicate tint in Marcia's cheeks deepened and warmed, her eyes grew even brighter.

"Flatterer!" she chided him. "Are we to talk of the moon and the stars again, Mr. Lee?"

The knot of men about her melted away. Lee stood looking down into her upturned eyes, measuring her gentle beauty. He had thought of her as a little blue butterfly—she was more like a wee white moth, fluttering, fluttering.

The music, again from a hidden distance, set feet to tapping. Marcia plainly hesitated, flashed a quick look from Lee to the others about them, then whispered hurriedly:

"It's terrible of me, but—"

And she slipped her hand into his arm, cast another searching glance over her shoulder for a partner who had been too tardy in finding her, and yielded to the temptation to have this first dance with "the most terribly fascinating man there!" Lee slipped his arm about her, felt her sway with him, and lightly they caught the beat of the dance and lost themselves in it. And still, again and again turning away from Marcia, he sought Judith.

The dance over, their talk was interrupted by an excited and rather over-dramatized youth with a hurt look in his young worshipping eyes, who stiffly reminded Mr. Langworthy that she had cut his dance. She was so contrite and helpless about it that the youth's heart was touched; she blamed herself for her terribly stupid way of always getting things tangled up, gave him the promise of the next dance which she had already given to some one else. Disposed of him with charming skill, and sighed as she turned again to Lee.

"I haven't paid my respect to our hostess," he said quietly. "Where is Miss Sanford?"

"She sent her excuses," Marcia told him. "Aren't we in a draft, Mr. Lee?"

He moved with her away from the soft current of air, a distinct disappointment moving him to the verge of sudden anger. What business had Judith to stay away?

"You mean she isn't coming at all?" he asked quickly.

"Oh, no," she told him, busy with the rose in her hair, her eyes bright on his. "Just as the dance was beginning she had to go to the telephone. Some ranch business I don't know what. But she sent word she would be here immediately—I believe," and Marcia made her remark teasingly, tho she did want to know, that a certain mysterious gentleman who masquerades as a horse-breaker is very much interested in Judith.

"What makes you say a thing like that?" he asked, started a little. Marcia laughed.

"A woman's intuition, Mr. Mystery," she informed him gayly. "We'll do the woman's intuition find to be the mysterious gentleman's interest in a certain Miss Langworthy?" he asked lightly.

"It tells her that he likes her; that it would be fun for him to come and play with her; that he would be kind and courteous; but that he considers her very much as he would a foolish little butterfly."

Again she startled him. He looked at her wonderingly. But before he could frame a bantering reply, Marcia had involuntarily gripped at his arm with a look upon her face that first was sheer bewilderment and then was crying for him to look wonder.

"Aren't you startled?" he asked. "Aren't you startled?" he asked. "Aren't you startled?" he asked.

He looked at her wonderingly. But before he could frame a bantering reply, Marcia had involuntarily gripped at his arm with a look upon her face that first was sheer bewilderment and then was crying for him to look wonder.

Across the floor, now nearly deserted, Bud Lee and Marcia stared at her. She was coming toward them, her dainty little slippers seeming to kiss their own reflections in the gleaming floor. It was Judith and not Judith. It was some strange unknown Judith. A wonderfully gowned, transcendently lovely Judith. A Judith who had long hidden herself, masquerading, and who now stepped forth smiling and bright and vividly beautiful; a Judith of bare white arms round and soft and rich in their tender curves; a Judith whose slimy gown floated about her like a sunset mist; a Judith whose skin above the lowest corsage was like a babe's, whose tender mouth was a red flower, whose hair was a shimmering mass of bronze-brown, whose eyes were Aphrodite's own, glorious, dawn-gray; a Judith of rare maidenly charm, a glorious, pulsant, triumphant Judith.

It might have been just because it was fitting that they should greet their hostess so; it might have been because the men and women who saw this new Judith were caught suddenly in a compelling current of admiration that above the hum of voices rose from everywhere a quick clapping of hands as she came thru the room. The color of her cheeks deepened, her eyes flashed a joyous acknowledgment of the greeting, and bright and cool and self-possessed she came on to Marcia.

"Marcia, dear," she said, taking Marcia's two hands—and Bud Lee found that even Judith's voice had taken on a new note deeper, richer, gladder, fraught with the quality of low music—"forgive me for being late. I wanted to be here every little second to see you enjoy yourself." She put her lips closer to Marcia's ear whispering: "You are the prettiest thing tonight I ever saw!"

Marcia shook her head, her eyes filled with frank wonder. "Don't fib, Judith, dear," she answered. And, for Marcia, she was very grave. "I know you have a glass in your room. You wonderful, wonderful Judith!"

A big-scale road test on 3,200 tubes

How Firestone puts the miles in—and then proves it —not at YOUR expense

No other tubes in the world are road tested on so big a scale as Firestones. The Yellow Cab Company of Chicago uses Firestone Tubes exclusively on its 800 taxicabs. The service of these tubes is checked constantly—improvements and developments are arrived at.

By close watching of a large number of tubes in service—not confined to isolated instances—the conclusions are accurate and definite.

Firestone puts the best in materials into tubes by establishing purchasing experts at Singapore, center of the world's rubber market. Firestone puts the best in workmanship into tubes by organizing the crack manufacturing organization of the industry on a profit-sharing basis.

And then subjects the finished product to this big-scale road test—in order to get you more for your tube money and more miles out of your tires. And yet Firestone Tubes cost no more than the ordinary kind.

JUST A GIRL

BY JANE PHELPS
A WALK

SYNOPSIS
Zena Stewart, debutante, tells her story. Her parents are determined she shall marry rich, the father cautioning her that it is the man, not what he has, that counts. Jack Pryor and Gregory Stuart are both eligible, but Zena's ideal is a westerner, who doesn't care for the city and society. Lawrence, a westerner, who has a permission to call and Zena and her mother are both charmed by his manner. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

I felt terribly annoyed with Edith when she told me she felt a thrill when Kenneth Lawrence looked at her. Even if she had it wasn't very nice to talk about it. I too, had been thrilled but I could not speak of it; it seemed too—well, too holy feeling.

I had found out that Kenneth was 24 years old. I wasn't quite 19, but I know I felt just as old as he did. They say—wherever "they" is—that girls are older than boys. I wonder why?

I had told Edith that Kenneth did not like cities, and had added rather maliciously:

"There's no use setting your cap for him unless you want to live on a farm with pigs and chickens."

"They don't have farms in California! They have ranches."

"What's the difference as long as they have the pigs and chickens on both?"

"I don't care, Zena Stewart; I would rather have pigs and chickens with him than everything else with some of the fellows of our set."

I suppose we can look for invitations soon," I jeered, that little hurt feeling again in my heart.

"Don't be such an idiot!" Edith inelegantly responded. Sometimes we girls were terribly slangy—when our parents weren't around. "Can't a girl say she likes a man without your jumping at conclusions?"

I don't suppose any of us will ever see him again. Claudia says he is going back to what you say he calls "God's Country" in two weeks."

Someway I wanted to say "I will see him again! I know it!"—but I bit my lip and kept still. There was nothing to be gained by being confidential with Edith, and she might laugh at me.

It was the day of Claudia's dinner. I wanted some little thing to wear, so I had gone over to a shop in the Avenue. And who should I see swinging along but Kenneth Lawrence! He seemed very glad to see me, and asked me if I were out for an airing.

"Oh, no! I always take the car when I go out for pleasure. I had a little shopping to do."

"But this is a perfect day for a long walk. Do your shopping and wait for you, then take a nice long tramp with me."

"All right, I will! But won't you come into the store?"

"Not if you will excuse me. I feel like a bull in a china shop in one of your stores. I'll wait right outside the door."

I found what I wanted quickly, and then joined him. I knew down in my heart that Mother would not approve; that had I asked her permission it would have been refused. But I said nothing of this as I tried to accommodate myself, and my narrow skirt, to his stride.

"I don't see how you New York girls walk at all. You dress your feet just as ridiculously as the Chinese women do. Here, we will sit here on this bench and rest awhile. Next time we go for a walk, put on sensible shoes—if you have any!"

I added, after hesitating:

"I wanted to tell him he was impudent to talk to me as he did, but my heart was beating so fast because he had implied we would go for another walk that I couldn't bring myself to say a thing. I only agreed to wear low-heeled shoes."

"I have a pair I used to wear in boarding school," I told him.

We rested a little and then resumed our walk. This time he went slowly, every little while asking me if I were tired.

"We Californians are great walkers. There is something bracing about the climate. We don't seem to tire as you Eastern people do. That is, I have always shot it was the climate. But perhaps the kind of shoes we wear has something to do with it," he said with a quizzical look.

"Tomorrow—The Pain of Pride."

DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS
IN WHICH ENGAGED GIRLS EXCHANGE CONFIDENCES

Last night we sat around and talked till the moon came up and kissed each one of us with its silvery lips. What a night—what an emotional night! The very quality of the beauty all around us, the water with the moonlight rippling on its surface, and the drowsy, sweet air, heavy with the sensuousness of mid-summer blossoms, led us to think of our absent lovers. And then we began to grow confidential.

Personally I think it would do men a world of good to be able to be present when women are discussing men. It might help them to understand our modern and ever-changing views about life, and themselves, so much better.

It was Jean who grew confidential. She was lying on the ground taking a moonlight bath, when she suddenly said, "Honor bright which one of us really wants to get married?"

It was an alarming question, and required an alarmingly frank answer. So for a few moments not one of us ventured to reply; we were all too busy with our throats.

"I do," said Aunt Cecilia fearfully. "I honestly want to be married to Jeffrey, and to feel that I am tied tightly to him by law as well as by my love. There are any number of reasons for this, one of the strongest being that we have been separated for so long. I have missed so much of life already thru my stupidity, and I want my Jeff all to myself, as tightly as I can have him, and for as long."

I suppose you girls will think me old-fashioned and all that, but you can't judge me until you have lived a bit more—and suffered some—yourself."

We did not laugh at Aunt Cecilia, for instinctively each one of us put

Famous Screen and Stage Beauty Tells Why She Takes Nuxated Iron

TO INCREASE STRENGTH, ENERGY AND POWER BY BUILDING RICH, RED BLOOD
Thousands of Women Become Care-Worn and Show Signs of Age Simply Because They Fail To Safeguard Their Health—Says Physician In Commenting Upon the Experience of Miss Dorothy Dalton

Known to millions as one of the most brilliant screen and stage stars before the public today, Miss Dorothy Dalton, who for the past season played the leading role in the notable New York production of "Aphrodite," now explains how Nuxated Iron proved a wonderful strength-giving help in her strenuous

Miss Dalton says: "In my picture work and on the stage, which at times is very strenuous, I have found Nuxated Iron a great help. It has wonderful building powers and makes rich blood."

In commenting upon the above statement, Dr. R. Alphonsus Wallace, a physician of many years' experience and formerly of the British Naval Medical Service, says: "Miss Dalton's case is one that clearly shows what may be accomplished by a young woman in keeping up vigorous health and strength while undergoing the strain of long hours and hard work. There are thousands of other women in different occupations of life who show signs of age years before they should, simply because they fail to take the same precautions in safeguarding the health which Miss Dalton has shown to be so valuable. Iron is red blood food and when the iron in your blood runs low, your red blood corpuscles die by millions the strength goes from your body, the color from your face—that mirror of yourself—and your energy and power. Almost invariably in these cases I prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—enrich the blood and create thousands of new red blood cells, thereby quickly transforming the flabby toneless flesh into firm, healthy tissue. I have known Nuxated Iron to give women greatly increased strength and energy in two weeks' time and make them look years younger."

Dr. Kenneth K. MacAlpine, a prominent New York Surgeon, member of the New York State Medical Society and for 16 years Adjunct Professor of the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, says: "You can tell the women who are rich in strength-giving iron, whose blood is rich and healthy, rosy-checked ones, radiant with life, vim and energy—and sought after everywhere they go. Yet despite all that has been said and written by physicians about the alarming iron deficiency in the blood of the average American woman of today, there are still thousands who need something to increase their red-blooded corpuscles and build up their strength and endurance and are either careless of their condition or do not know what to take. In my opinion there is nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to help make healthy, full-blooded, beautiful women."

In commenting upon Dr. MacAlpine's statement regarding the alarming iron deficiency in the blood of the average American woman of today, Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author, says: "I fully agree with Dr. MacAlpine that there can be no healthy, rosy-checked woman who does not have a strong, full-blooded blood. The fact that doctors should emphasize the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for her nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking women patients. Anemia—iron deficiency—is the greatest curse to the health, strength, vitality and beauty of the modern American woman. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down women, who were failing all the while, have surprisingly increased their strength and endurance in two weeks' time in many instances.

Miss Dorothy Dalton

Beautiful Star of Spectacular "Aphrodite" production, often called the modern Venus—keenly interested in aviation and other outdoor sports—now recommends Nuxated Iron.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to doctors everywhere. Unlike the other iron salts, it is easily assimilated and does not cause the usual indigestion, constipation or other ill effects. It is distributed by all good druggists.

LOVE AND MARRIED LIFE

BY IDA MCGLOTH GIBSON

HELEN MEETS ELIZABETH

(Copyright 1920.)

I was not surprised that the telephone receiver at the other end of the line was slammed on the hook when I told John's mother that after this the car was at my disposal only.

At this moment Charles appeared at the door with some of the baby's toilet articles which had fallen off Miss Parker's lap and got under one of the robes in the motor.

"Will you need the car any more this afternoon?" he inquired. It seemed to me that I saw a rather hopeful gleam in his eyes and I took it to mean that he hoped I would. Evidently Charles did not particularly care for Elizabeth Moreland and my mother-in-law.

"Shortly, Charles," I answered. "I am sending Miss Parker and the baby out for a ride. Personally I shall rest here for the day."

"Very well, Mrs. Gordon, I shall be waiting at the door," was his reply. Elizabeth Clever Woman

"Elizabeth Moreland," I said to myself, "is a much cleverer woman than I. She has evidently gone back to John's mother and made her angry at me over the car, having in this way to gain her own ends."

I was certain that I could not make a cat's-paw of Miss Gordon, but Elizabeth seemed to have no trouble in making both mother and son take up her quarrel, foster her fads and obey her moods.

Some way I rather welcomed the battle that I knew was slated for me in the future. I realized that I was physically well, and, although I had not intended to go out until John returned, I accepted Helen's and Bobby's invitation to dine with them that night at the country club.

Helen came over to see me in the afternoon and told me that at last the people had accepted her. "Bobby," she said, "was very anxious to have me turn down the invitations when they did come from women who had snubbed me at first, but I told him that I would be foolish. If I could make these women like me it would be much better for us and rather a feather in my cap. And now, my dear, I really think that all your friends are fond of me."

"How could they help it?" I asked. "I knew that if every one of these women came to know you she would become your friend if you wished her to."

"Katherine," said Helen. "I think you have a genius for friendship. If it had not been for you I never would have been able to have rehabilitated myself in the eyes of the world. It was you who made Alice come and see me, and of course, with Alice's position here—and you know what a staunch adherent she can be when she wishes—she was able to put me in exactly the right place."

Old Idea Exploded

"You may talk all you please, Katherine, about the inhumanity of women to women; I think that old idea is exploded. Women will do much for each other nowadays. They have become much more tolerant of each other."

"Alice tells me that women have become more tolerant because they are more independent—that up until now women have not been afraid of the speech of people or even the speech of women, but they have been afraid of the gossip of men."

"Alice says that men have fostered the idea that women will forgive nothing at all reprehensible in their own sex, when the truth of the matter is that women will forgive much in their own sex that men will not overlook."

I must have looked my surprise, for Helen proceeded: "Oh, yes, I know what you are going to say. It is the old stock tale that men are much better to women than women are to their sex, but did you ever notice—perhaps, my dear, you have never been put in the position to notice—that a man will be charming to you himself; in fact, if there is the least bit of scandal attached to you he will go out of his way to be nice to you. But he won't let the women or his household become intimate with you if he can help it. That is why I think Alice is right. Your mother and mine used to acquiesce patiently when your father and mine said: 'I am hearing stories about Mrs. Black and I don't want you to be seen with her any more,' but you and I, my dear, at least think if we do not say 'I shall choose my own friends husband dear, as you choose yours.'"

"I guess you are right, Helen," I said, "but how about Friend Husband forcing his intimacies upon you?"

Must Choose for Herself

"Well I think that is also becoming obsolete," was Helen's unconsciously impersonal reply. "I think that everyone should choose his or her own friends. I know that Bobby has a number of friends that I am not fond of and possibly I have some that he just endures. I know, however, that he is fond of you and Alice, but I met a young woman the other day, a Miss Moreland—in fact, I think John introduced me to her—who seemed to be fascinating to both John and Bobby. I want to tell you, Katherine, that for the first time in my life I hated a woman at sight."

"Then you believe, Helen, in both love and hate at first sight?"

"I am not sure, but I do know that you can dislike a person very much, and I hope that I am not saying anything against any one of your friends when I say to you that I repulsion toward that woman your of all the people I have ever met I feel the most silent and stranger! Tomorrow—Elizabeth and I Meet

PLAY BLOSSOMS WITHER AWAY

Well Announced Plans Fail in New York

THE REVIEW OF THE RIALTO

No Decrease in List of Attractions For Fall

(BY DIXIE HINES)

NEW YORK. — The next easiest thing to do in all the world is to announce prospective activities. There is but one thing easier and that is to abandon them. This pessimistic observation is born of the realization that of all the summer plans announced by musical producers, managers and the like, not one has come to pass. New York was to blossom with plays—this was the prediction. The fulfillment is that the blossoms have withered in the bud, and playhouses are closing so rapidly that the closing doors sound like a rapid fire gun. There will be the usual summer revues, such as follies, gaudies, scandals, and the like, but for actual dramas and comedies there will be few. "Scandal" and "East is West," two of the oldest plays on the boards have cashed in, and this week a group of new names will appear on the "closed for summer" list.

But if we are short on the drama we are long on musical stuff, both attached and unattached to words. A score of new revues are being planned for immediate presentation, and such houses as are not to be thus taken care of, will have the flickering film for a summer attraction.

But orchestra and band music is plentiful and excellent. At the University there are a series of summer night band concerts on the green under the baton of Edwin Franko Goldman. These concerts are given by a band which is almost a symphony orchestra in versatility. It has, indeed, been called a "Symphony in brass." The programs are unusually attractive, and the nightly attendance runs into the extravagant figures of 10,000 to 15,000. They are delightful entertainment for the torrid season, and on such occasions as the weather is too inclement for outdoor enjoyment, there is an indoor auditorium.

At the Lewisohn Stadium, adjacent to the College of the City of New York, the National Symphony Orchestra, with noted soloists, give nightly concerts under the baton of Walter Henry Rothwell, conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra. The second week is coming to an end now, and the fortnight passed into review indicates that New York and the thousands who are her summer visitors, have found an ideal method of spending an evening thus made ideal. The orchestra is made up of ninety members most of them from the National Symphony, with soloists of the highest distinction. The week passing into history marks the appearance of Cantor Bernard Woolf, Anna Fittz, who was the fourth of July soloist, Marcella Craft, Winifred Byrd, Rafael Diaz and Barbara Murel. It was not believed possible that New York could muster so large an attendance for a musical event as has been noted at the Orchestra and band concerts. The fame of these has extended beyond the boundaries of Manhattan Island, and visitors to the city themselves suggest attendance which is a good omen, the critics assert, for better music.

Of the immediate future it may be observed that the Empire Theatre will be opened in August or September with a new comedy under the management of David Belasco called "Call the Doctor." Jane Hutton, statuette and dignified and Ren-

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

Coming to the Regent Tuesday.

Earle Williams in "Captain Swift" at the Lyric today, Monday and Tuesday.

Martin, diminutive and blonde, furnish the beauty contrast.

A new play by Marie de Salabons, "Pebles of Soul," is also scheduled for an early production. It is a powerful play of reincarnation, and will introduce this brilliant and effective writer to the American stage.

Richard G. Herndon will open the Belmont Theatre with "Little Miss Charity," a delightfully tuneful and clean musical comedy which has already won substantial recognition and approval on tour.

"His Chinese Wife," recently closed, will be revived by Charles D. Blaney early in the season, and after a resumption of its New York engagement will be sent on tour.

"The Passion Flower," will resume early in September. It is announced that it will be used to inaugurate the Walnut Street Theatre in Philadelphia as a first-class production house. Wifford Kane, the art director of the existing Cattle Players, plans a more extended and propitious season of these emotional Gaelic actors. The Irish Players, his nearest competitors, faded away last week. Georges Plateau, the French actor, is also to have a new play for Broadway observation. He has been unusually unfortunate the past season in his failure to secure a play suitable to his remarkable talents.

Barthel Haxton Butler, author of "Mama's Affair," will contribute a new comedy to the Oliver Morosco office in "Mom" and will also re-establish her Children's Theatre.

Thomas Dixon will start the season with "A Man of the People," based on the life of Abraham Lincoln. Boyd Agin, who has not been seen hereabouts since he returned from the war, is an early engagement.

Langdon McCormick will follow "The Storm," his masterpiece of star invention, with a new one called "Roaring River." It is quite as sensational as those usually written and devised by this effective writer.

In private life, Robert Warwick goes by the name of Robert Taylor Brien.

ALL-STAR WEEK IN LIMA MOVIES

Special Features on Programs at Various Theatres

WANDA HAWLEY AT FAUROT

Doug Fairbanks in "The Mollycoddle" at the Regent

BY ESTHER WAGNER

WITH a week of special features and all-star productions before them, movie fans are assured of the very best there is in screen entertainment. Not a theatre but what offers an especially inviting program for the week, presenting such names as Lillian Gish, Douglas Fairbanks, Will Rogers, Wanda Hawley, Earle Williams, Olive Tell, Harold Lloyd and some others. Sounds good, doesn't it?

Perhaps the biggest film of all comes to the Regent this latter part of the week. It is "The Mollycoddle" with well-known Douglas Fairbanks. Metropolitan papers have exploited this film to a great extent, and it stands to reason that anything Fairbanks makes is sure to get over.

We're to have a new star on the program this week. Not new to the movies of course, but new as a star she is Wanda Hawley, the girl whose dimples made her famous. Realart has given Miss Hawley a starring vehicle the well known play "Miss Hobbs" and Wanda makes a real film out of it. Supporting her are Walter Hiers and Harrison Ford. The Faurot is exhibiting this production today and tomorrow.

Then on Tuesday comes "The Tree of Knowledge" with Robert Warwick doing the leading part. The film is up to the standard set by Warwick and the supporting cast is well-chosen.

"Jes Call Me Jim" is the title of Will Rogers' newest picture, showing at the Regent today. And little Jim Rogers has an important part in it, together with Irene Rich, who played with Will in "The Strange Boarder."

After hearing much about the screen version of "Captain Swift" theatre-goers are given a chance to see it at the Lyric today and tomorrow. Earle Williams has the title role and does his usual good work.

A return engagement of "The Woman Gives" a First National attraction which stars Norma Talmadge, is scheduled to appear at the Lyric for two days, starting next Friday. Many will remember Norma's splendid work in the picture.

"Other Men's Shoes" has been announced as the special feature at the Majestic theatre today and tomorrow. Crawford Kent plays the lead in this, having a dual role, that of a minister and also a wanderer.

Thursday is spook day at the Faurot, so they say, and anyone that enjoys goblins and weird creepy things wants to be on hand; for Harold Lloyd is coming in "Haunted Spooks," and Olive Tell is on the bill, appearing in "Love Without Question." These two features will be shown for three days.

"OTHER MEN'S SHOES"
Decidedly human is "Other Men's Shoes," clean, vigorous and dramatic. Crawford Kent has the leading role, which is a dual one, playing the part of Stephen and Jim Browning, who are so alike in face and form that even their most intimate friends cannot tell them apart. Stephen is a minister, frail and meek, while Jim is a wanderer. When the minister loses his spirit and health, his wandering brother turns up and takes his place, and no one but his brother and his sister know of the change. Thus many interesting complications arise, and lead to a surprising climax. "Other Men's Shoes" is one of the best productions of the year, and includes Irene Boyle and Bobby Connelly in the cast. The Majestic is featuring this picture.

"JES' CALL ME JIM"
Again Will Rogers demonstrates that he is a personality on the screen, a personage of rare humor and never-changing moods. In "Jes' Call Me Jim," Rogers has a role typical of all his productions, that of a happy, nonchalant, easy-going citizen. Irene Rich, who was his leading woman in "The Strange Boarder" plays opposite. And another good thing about it, little Lillian Rogers, son of Rogers, Senior, has a most important role.

The story was taken from the novel "The Seven Oaks" and deals with plain folks, mostly trappers and hunters. Some of the most beautiful scenes are in forests. The Regent is showing this production.

"CAPTAIN SWIFT"
Haddon Chambers, English novelist, is responsible for the story "Captain Swift," which in its screen version stars Earle Williams. The tale proper has London and its environs for its locale, and many scenes are laid in Australia. A peculiarity occurs in that two directors made the film, both at widely divergent points, one on the East Coast and one on the West Coast. The action of the production moves at a fast gait throughout and the supporting cast has been selected with great care. "Captain Swift" is one of the most realistic pictures ever filmed. It's showing at the Lyric.

"MISS HOBBS"
In this production Wanda Hawley makes her first appearance as a star, and Realart shows that it has been a good picker. Miss Hawley is familiar to most movie fans, having played with Bryant Washburn and Wallace Reid not long ago. Supporting the star in this picture are Harrison Ford and Walter Hiers.

SWIFT"

From a scraggy bearded bandit to a gentleman of refinement is a short step for Earle Williams in the film version of the famous play, "Captain Swift." As an Australian bushman, he is pursued by a posse. Fate throws a dying man across his path and Captain Swift changes his identity to commence life anew in England. Once more Dealing makes a move in the game of life and Captain Swift is forced to solve the greatest problem that can confront a man. In doing this he finds a mother and sweetheart only to be brought up against disaster that threatens the ruin of three lives.
